Students, Teachers Protest Closing Of Smoking Area

By Susan Rand

More than one quarter of the students and teachers at Andover High School are asking for the reinstatement of the student smoking section at the Shawsheen Road senior high.

A combination of reasons including an increase in drug use in the smoking area, phone calls from parents and the suspension of four students from school for drug offenses led Acting Principal Stephen C. Richardson to tell students the 14-year-old smoking area would be turned into recreational space for use by all students.

Until March 4 students had been allowed to smoke in the area between the high school and the gymnasium. Richardson's announcement to the students last month followed the decision he reached along with Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert and Assistant Superintendent Leslie G. Loomis. The three men also consulted high school Assistant Principal Will Hixon and Acting Assistant Principal Timothy Thomas before closing the smoking area.

Loomis, the assistant superintendent who oversees the high school, explained to the School Committee that the decision to close the smoking area was made for health and safety reasons. Cocaine and marijuana were both used in the high school, Seifert said.

The decision wasn't popular with students and some teachers who have petitioned the School Committee to override the administrative decision in a petition carrying the names of some 350 students and teachers. The Committee didn't act on the request at their meeting on Tuesday, but heard from students and teachers who criticized the manner in which the decision to close the smoking center was made, and from administrators, who explained they had the students' health and safety in mind when they made the decision. Over a dozen Andover High School students were present when the matter was being discussed.

"Certain decisions have to be made that aren't going to be popular," Richardson said. "Drugs are things that we aren't going to accept."

High school social studies teacher Philip Nelson suggested a more democratic system of decision making that included student comment. He signed the petition and spoke to the committee at Richardson's request, adding that the close of the smoking area was bad for morale.

"I wouldn't advocate smoking to students," said Nelson. "We should head off what could be a nasty situation by opening up a dialogue."

Student Paul Belle Isle, one of eight students Richardson asked to attend the committee meeting, spoke at length about the decision, questioning the legality of not allowing 18-year-olds to smoke. He suggested the administration outlaw smoking by teachers too, an idea which committee Chairman Donald W. Robb later told THE TOWNSMAN was an option and was not "beyond the realm of possibility." But Robb added that he wasn't ready to suggest such a measure.

Warrant Makeup Indicates Three-Night Town Meeting

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Voters will tackle an 82-article warrant bottom-heavy with proposed changes to the zoning bylaw when annual town meeting convenes at 7 p.m. next Monday, April 1, in the Collins Center at Andover High School.

Town officials expect the meeting to run three nights — and with the most interesting articles concentrated in the second half of the warrant, it seems likely that most of the meeting's heat and light will be generated Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Late on the meeting agenda are proposals to rezone the Knights of Columbus site from residential to industrial use (Article 77); to rezone four downtown parcels from residential to general business use (Articles 72 through 75); and to transfer control of a 96-acre Cross Street site to the town Conservation Commission (Article 82).

Other proposals that appear more than halfway through the warrant are major changes to the zoning laws proposed by the Planning Board. The first (Article 65) would revise the towns parking laws, while the next (Articles 67, 69 and 70) would create a new zone for multiple-family housing.

What Monday night has in store for voters is a discussion of the $36.3 million Fiscal Year 1986 budget, to be considered under Article 4. That total includes an operating budget of $11.89 million on the town side, and a school department operating budget of $15.94 million.

The recommended budget would buy new personnel in the public safety departments: four full-time firefighters and five police officers. (Those departments have a total recommended budget of $4.4 million.) The budget proposal also includes a $4.2 million Public Works appropriation.

According to the Finance Committee, townspeople can expect to see a tax increase of approximately three to four percent if they approve the budget to be presented at town meeting.

A series of DPW requests also appear early on the meeting agenda, in Articles 14 through 16.

Article 14 seeks a $13.5 million appropriation to expand the water treatment plant on Haggetts Pond from its current

New member David Birnbach, who already had his own name plaque in front of him, was welcomed to the table at the committee meeting on Tuesday. And Susan T. Poore was congratulated on election to her second term.

The committee will meet again on Monday and Tuesday, at 7:15 p.m., before the annual Town Meeting, to vote on articles before the meeting. Their next regular meetings are set for Tuesday, April 9, and Tuesday, April 23, at 7:30 p.m., in the School Committee meeting room, on the second floor of the school administration building, Whittier Street.

Selectmen Schedule Meetings

The Board of Selectmen will meet twice before annual town meeting convenes at 7 p.m. next Monday night at the Collins Center.

The selectmen will meet at 7 p.m. tonight (March 28) at town offices on Bartlet Street. The main order of business will be a run-through of the "script" for next week's town meeting, as well as the election of new officers.

And the board will meet again at 6 p.m. next Monday night, April 1, at the Collins Center. At that time they will review several town meeting matters that have been left unresolved, including a number of street acceptances that appear on the warrant.

Planners To Act On Developments

The Planning Board won't get any time off to recover from next week's town meeting, but will go right back to work with a meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 9, at town offices on Bartlet Street.

During that meeting they are expected to vote on preliminary plans for two subdivisions: Equestrian Way, a seven-lot cluster development proposed for a 12.5-acre Brown Street site; and Mill Dam Estates, a 31-lot conventional development proposed for a 63-acre site off Rattlesnake Hill Road and Woburn Street.

Historical Show And Tell

By Virginia Lopez Begg

The Andover Historical Society's monthly morning coffee will have a new twist on Tuesday, April 2, when the audience is invited to participate in the 9:30 a.m. program.

"Andover Memories: Show & Tell" will present a group of Andover residents, each with an interesting piece of Andover memorabilia to share with the group. The items are expected to vary widely and are being kept secret to surprise those in attendance.

Each momento will be described as to who owned it, where it came from and what it was used for. Approximately ten persons, including morning coffee committee members Bernice Haggerty, Ruth Sharpe, Barbara Loomer, Ruth Sherwood and Marge Snell, will present the first part of the program.

Members of the audience will then be invited to "show and tell" any Andover-related items they have brought. These may be as varied as a dance card from a high school prom or a souvenir from Calvin Coolidge's visit to Andover. They may commemorate a holiday celebration or be an item from daily life. They need not be antique. Crockery, jewelry, an old newspaper—all are welcome.

The Andover Historical Society, located in the 1819 Amos Blanchard House on Main Street, invites the public to come and enjoy "Andover Memories: Show & Tell" and to learn something about this historic community. The society is a non-profit educational institution open to both members and the public. For information on open hours, exhibitions, tours, special events and membership, call the society office Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

To Discuss Substance Abuse

Andover High School's Students Against Drunk Driving, in conjunction with the Parents Advisory Council, is sponsoring a community awareness program on substance abuse on Monday, April 8, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the choral room of the Collins Center for the Performing Arts.

The evening will feature a presentation by Otto Moulton, founder of The Committees of Corrrespondance, an organization based in Danvers that addresses, on a national level, the issue of substance abuse.

As a follow-up to the Fall S.A.D.D. night, Moulton's topic of discussion will include "The Substance Abuse Problem: What can a community do from here?" and "The Impact of the Media on Substance Abuse."

S.A.D.D. acknowledges that there is the abuse of alcohol and other drugs among students. One of its main goals is to open the channels of communication in families. A community needs to be informed and bond together to discuss alternatives to assist in fighting this battle.

Named Executive Director

Francie Avella has been appointed executive director of the Hale Hospital Foundation, Inc. She succeeds Jay McGovern who left in December to take a position with North Shore Catholic Charities in Peabody. The announcement was made by Daniel R. Taffe, Jr., M.D., president of the Hale Hospital Foundation at the board of directors meeting in March.

Avella's past experience includes instructor on the faculty of Hunter College, NYC, and instructor, associate director, director and consultant at St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing in NYC. She received her BS and MA in Nursing Education at Columbia University in New York.

"When my husband was transferred to Massachusetts, I decided to "retire" and enjoy raising my son and doing some volunteer work," she said. "Some" volunteering amounted to 1000+ hours as a receptionist, teaching cooking and craft classes and coordinator of a cookbook for the Andover-North Andover YMCA.

"I fell into fundraising while attending a word processing class at NECCO. My instructor received a call from Jay who was looking for an assistant to help him with the fund drive for the foundation. He was easy to work with and we got along very well. I learned a great deal from him in all aspects of fundraising and it was very exciting for us when the foundation went over the goal of $1,000,000.

"Probably making friends for the Hale is just as important as raising the funds. I found it very gratifying that over 1,500 individuals, groups and businesses contributed to our fund drive and became 'friends of the Hale.' Perhaps it is my nursing background, but I believe in the work I am doing and I like what I am doing. Being able to purchase a new piece of equipment that will benefit a patient and, therefore, the community is very meaningful to me."

Avella and her husband, Frank, reside in Andover. They have a son, Michael, who attends Andover High School.

Exhibit

Francesca Anderson Gallery,132 Newbury St., 2nd floor, Boston, will prsent a one-man show of the recent pantings of William E. Preston, April 5-30.

Watercolors and oils of New Mexico, Colorado and Utah will be shown.

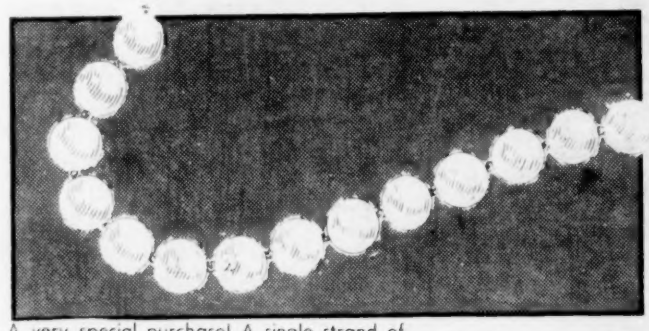

Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Andover Funeral Home Proposal At 42 Elm Street

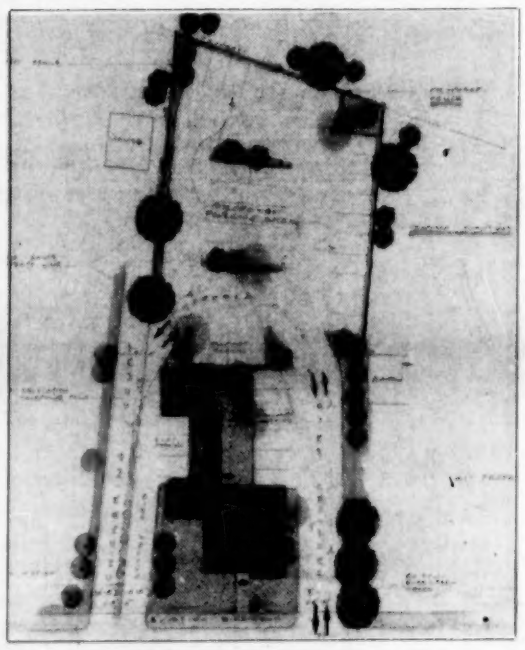

By Malcolm E. Lundgren and John D. Caron

John D. Caron and Malcolm E. Lundgren, Funeral Directors

Artist's Sketch of Proposed Funeral Home

Architect's Rendering of Proposed Building and Parking Facilities

The proposed new Caron Funeral Home will provide parking on the premises, during visiting hours. Also, parking for up to 60 cars the day of the funeral, with no unnecessary moving of vehicles. This is a major safety factor, documented by Police Chief, James Johnson and Fire Chief, William Downs.

Malcoln Lundgren and John Caron can best serve the needs of the people of Andover in their time of sorrow.

The following direct abutters and direct neighbors, which are 98% in favor of this proposal, feel that the funeral home will only be an asset to the town of Andover.

Summer Registration Begins

The Department of Community Services will accept registrations for three of its summer playground programs beginning Monday, April 1. The playgrounds include Tiny Tot for ages three and four, Preschool for children ages 4½-6 and the All-Day for grades K-6.

The largest change from last season involves the change of location. The Tiny Tot and Preschool programs will be relocated from the Bancroft School to the Shawsheen School and the All-Day will move from the Technical School to Andover Recreation Park off Abbot Street.

The Tiny Tot and Preschool playgrounds are enrichment and recreational programs which help children explore the world of creative play with others their age in arts and crafts, music and movement, nature and games, storytelling and an occasional field trip (Preschool only). All children must be toilet trained.

Tiny Tots may register for a five-day schedule or a two or three-day-a-week program. Preschoolers register for a five-day schedule. Program hours are 9 a.m. to 12 noon. An afternoon program is available for preschoolers from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Extended hours are available until 5:30 p.m.

The All-Day Playground is an enrichment and recreational program geared for children who have completed grades K-6. Children will participate in a variety of traditional camp activities plus canoeing, hiking, swimming, tennis and weekly field trips.

The All-Day program is held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with extended hours available from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m and 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Registrations for all programs are in two-week sessions, beginning July 1. Children may be registered for one two-week session or a combination of sessions equalling up to eight weeks. Priority will be given to those registering for four weeks or more. This applies until April 26. Please note that four or eight-week discounted rates apply only when registering for a full four or eight weeks at the time of registration (not add-ons to equal a larger number). Non-residents may apply on a space-available basis for an additional fee.

Informational flyers are available at the department of community services office, Town Offices, Bartlet Street, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Concert

Bradford College will present two of Bach's compositions for the music theater: the "Peasant Cantata," "We Have a New Lord of the Manor" and the "Coffee Cantata," "Be Silent and Do Not Chatter." at 8 p.m. in Conover Hall on Sunday, March 31.

New Director For Preschool

The Free Church Cooperative Preschool has announced Mrs. Jayne G. deConstant as the new teacher-director of the school.

She holds a B.A. in Education from Hood College in Maryland and has years of experience as a nursery school teacher and administrator. Mrs. deConstant has served as the director-teacher of the Christ Church Nursery School, where she has been involved since 1980. The mother of two adult sons, she lives in Andover with her husband, Dr. J.W. deConstant.

Mrs. deConstant offers the families of Free Church preschool program strong leadership in continuing the school's tradition of excellence. She will work with Mrs. Kay Grace, head teacher, and the executive board of parents to build an environment in which young children can grow, explore, create, share and learn, as well as have fun. The school offers a three-morning program for 3½-year-olds and a four-morning program for four-year-olds. Parents participate in the cooperative venture by assisting the teachers one morning each month.

There are still a few openings for the fall enrollment. For information, contact the school at 31 Elm St., or phone Christine Sullivan, membership chairman, 8 Haven Drive.

Please Don't Allow The Town Of Andover To Turn The Front Of My House Into A Town Yard.

Dear Fellow Townsmen:

I would like to ask your help at the Andover town meeting on Monday, April 1, 1985.

Article 14 calls for the upgrading of the water treatment plant on Haggetts pond. The article has three sections as outlined in the Finance Committee report you have received.

The ambiguous third section calls for the construction of a 146 foot long garage costing "about" a million dollars, to provide for "additional" meter rebuilding capabilities and "other uses." uses." WHAT OTHER USES?

This section is an "add on" to a major article to try to quietly pass thru town meeting a garage that will house all the trucks and heavy equipment, pipes, valves, etc. of the water and sewer department.

If it is placed at the proposed site, which happens to be directly in front of my house, it will greatly increase the traffic in the most congested area of the town.

This type of garage belongs with the other existing town garages on Lewis Street where there is room for such construction along the railrcad tracks.

It should not be built in a residential area or on property that the town originally acquired by eminent domain as water shed land for the sole purpose of protecting our water supply.

Please help me eliminate this section from Article 14. This garage construction should be made a separate article and handled at another town meeting.

Thanks for your consideration of this matter.

Sincerely.

Robert E. Moynihan

Enrichment Day

Children from the Early Childhood Center at Shawsheen School spent part of their day last week learning about and being entertained by a variety of artists as part of an enrichment program. Children in small groups took turns going to different tables to watch the artist at work and ask a number of questions. Photos clockwise from upper left: Mike Waters shows Heather Rybicki, John Rensink, Ethan Davis, Patrick Donovan and Kerrin Mitchell the art of form core sculpturing; Michael Martin relaxes among a variety of quilts shown by instructor Peggy Smith; Mary Krieger plays a tune on the recorder for John Rensink, Matthew Wessler, Keri Mills, Chris Dell'Accio and Holly Ferris.

American Folk Art Festival

March is the month to honor Art Education in our schools and the West Elementary did it with an American Folk Art Festival. With 125 third graders dressed in traditional country and folk wear and the support of the music, art, physical education and reading departments, the West students and teachers were treated to an American Folk Art performance. Under the direction of Josie Walker and Betsy Boynton, music dept., Arthur Iworsley and Louise Rozzi, physical ed. dept. and Sally Wolfe, art Dept., the third graders entertained their audience with classic American folk songs, stories and country square dancing. Photos clockwise from upper left: Nine-year-old Damon Bellorado performs with traditional country hat; David Poulo, eight, and Kevin Rutan, nine, are decked out in their cowboy outfits; Gail Rollins, nine, sings with her class; Jeffery Feinberg portrays a pumpkin during a song about nursery rhymes; Betsy Boynton conducts the children in a song celebrating Music in Our Schools, Youth Art Month and Physical Education and Sports' Week; Megan Selvitelli as "Old King Cole."

Doherty Students Score High

The National French Contest of the American Association of Teachers of French was held March 16 at Peabody Veterans Memorial High School. Thirty-eight students from Doherty Junior High School competed with ten other Massachusetts schools.

Students from Doherty excelled in all four divisions:

Level 01, Laura Johnston, Michael Dow, grade 9, tie for first place; Level 1, Marisa Murtagh, grade 8, first place; Level 2, Laura Bicknell, grade 9, first place; Level 3, Karina Jeronimies, grade 8, first place.

These students' scores will be compared with those in the other testing centers in Massachusetts and across the nation for possible statewide or national honors.

African violets originally came from East Africa. They should be kept a between 65 to 70° or leaves will turn pale and curl downward.

BABY TALK

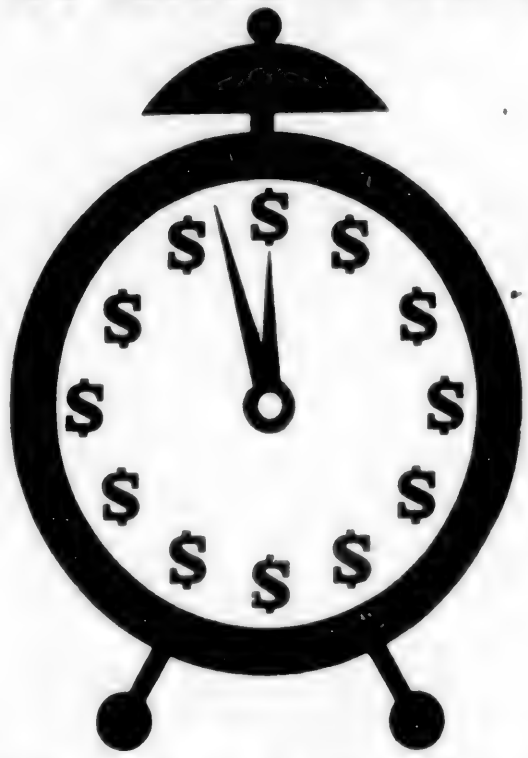

by Jack Resnick

The parents' roll starts at birth, and some doctors say the first hour is critical in forming the lifelong mother child attachment called bonding — one reason many hospitals and doctors have reversed past practices and now encourage the mother to hold the baby in her arms in the delivery room for a time after birth. This get-acquainted period gives you and the baby time to explore each other and allows you a moment to foster your maternal instincts. You'll find the baby responds to touch, warmth, skin contact, a soft voice, and gentle handling.

There is a wonderful selection of baby furniture at TINY TOTLAND. We have everything from pacifiers to strollers. Over 80 cribs on display. Wall decor and lamps. Babies toys for all ages...everything from "heaven to seven." Ask about our free lay-a-way plan. Delivery service. WAITING UNTIL THE LAST MINUTE TO MAKE YOUR IRA DEPOSIT

WILL COST YOU MONEY

$ Each day you put off making your contribution to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) is costing you valuable tax sheltered interest.

$ From the moment you make your IRA deposit, you start accumulating tax deferred interest — interest that would be taxable in any other type of account. So, the earlier you deposit your IRA contribution the greater your tax benefit.

$ Choose from a variety of IRA investments. From long-term fixed rate certificates to liquid variable rate money market accounts — all with the safety of FDIC insurance — you can choose the amount, the term and the rate that's best for you.

$ So don't put it off another day. Visit your nearest Arlington Trust Company office or call our IRA Department at (617) 681-7347 and find out how you can start earning tax sheltered interest now.

Job Match Program

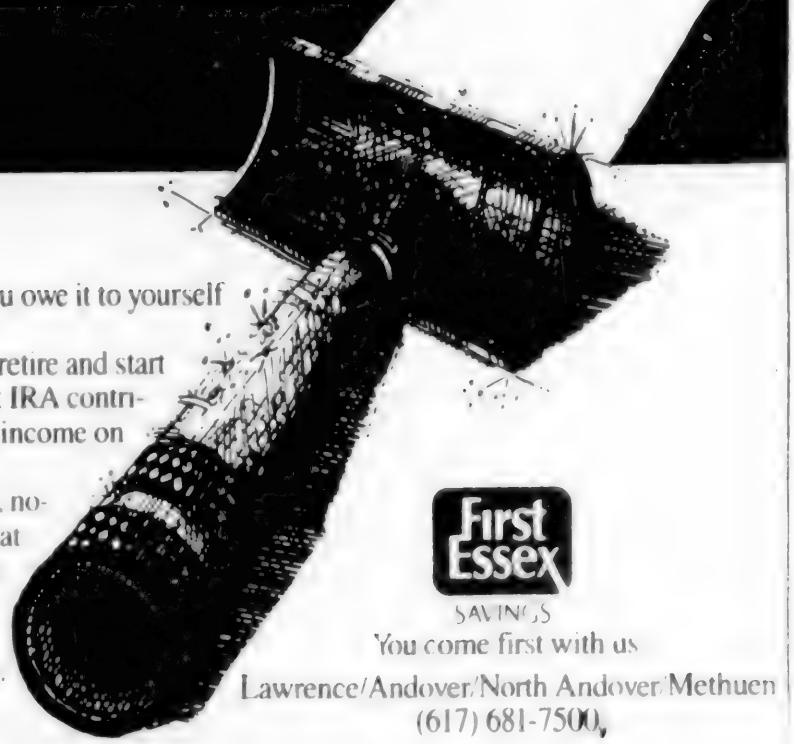

Realwork, a new matching program of job seekers and those who are attempting to find a specific person for a specific job, is having an enthusiastic response from the public. The program involves placing older people in jobs that would not ordinarily be placed in the paper. Thus, a woman who came in for her blood pressure to be checked explained to Gwen Smith, volunteer coordinator, about her sister who needs a livein physical therapist. The therapist, however, would have to live in Florida.

Not all requests for help are as romantic as this one. Most of the calls are for mature child-care sitters, many involve taking the sitter on trips and going away for the summer. There are some requests for men as well. Mrs. Smith is looking for a strong man to mow lawns this summer and some homemakers have jobs for men or women to help with windows and floors.

Contact Gwen Smith at the senior center on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. References must be presented by anyone who is referred for placement. The senior center is located on the Whittier Street side of Town Offices.

TAX SHAVER

If you owe Uncle Sam money this year, you owe it to yourself to get an IRA from First Essex Savings.

The IRS can't touch your IRA before you retire and start withdrawing from it. Until then, you can deduct IRA contributions of up to $2,000 per year from the gross income on your Federal income tax return.

First Essex offers IRA customers a no-fee, no-minimum balance, no-maturity Money Fund that allows deposits at any time, in any amount. You can also choose no-fee, $500 minimum 1 to 4 year certificates. Both pay high interest rates and are insured in full under Massachusetts law.

So get a First Essex IRA, because paying more than your fair share of taxes isn't fair.

Yoder To Appear On TV Panel

Andover resident John Yoder will be featured in a WNEV-TV special about turning points in the lives of nine people, called "New Beginnings," at 8 p.m. Friday, March 29.

Hosted by Health Editor Alan Xenakis, M.D., the program is the second of five prime-time specials to be presented during Channel 7's year-long "To Your Health" campaign, designed to promote good health.

Airing from 8 to 9 p.m., the special will take a look at how some people cope with, adjust to, and grow with changes —both physical and emotional — in their lives.

The 42-year-old Andover man will appear in a segment titled "Widowhood," which will also focus on Judy Hoyt, 35, of Reading. Both belong to Young Widows and Widowers, an Andover-based support group formed by Linda Feinberg of Andover.

The segment will explore how John must learn to assume the role of mother to his four children, while Judy must learn how to support her two children.

Throughout the coming year, the television station will update John's progress, along with that of the other subjects of the program, in future "To Your Health" specials and other regularly-scheduled programs.

Also featured in Friday night's special will be Martha Almy, 13, of Gloucester, in a segment titled "Youth and the Stigma of Being Overweight"; Somerville residents Rozann Kraus and Daniel Epstein, both in their thirties, in "The Expectant Couple"; former state representative Bill Owens, 46, of Mattapan in "The Heart Attack Victim"; West Medford residents Evelyn and Charles Tyner, 56 and 65 respectively, in "The Retirees"; and Deborah Atwood, 33, of Newton in "The Survivor."

Appointed Chief Of Radiology

George M. Hazel, M.D., medical director of the Regional Health Center (RHCW) in Wilmington, announced the appointment of Anthony E. Baumstark, M.D., of North Andover as chief of radiology.

Baumstark has been a staff radiologist since 1978 at RHCW and Choate Hospital, both divisions of Choate-Symmes Health Services. He will continue on the staff at Choate.

Baumstark begins his new position at a time when RHCW's radiology services are experiencing monthly increases in number of patients seen and of services offered.

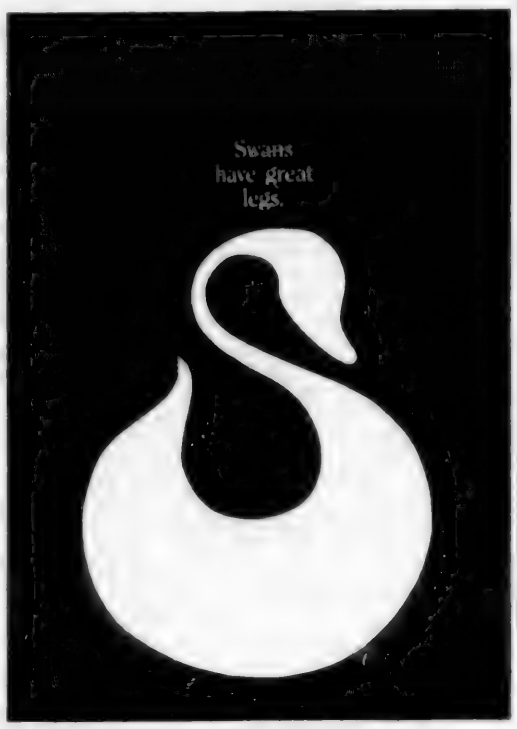

His goal is to encourage the radiology department to continue to grow and respond to the needs of the community. Baumstark noted that more medical tests and procedures are being completed on an outpatient basis and that the radiology department will be involved in providing many of those outpatient services.

He praised the concept of RHCW, where all medical services are under one roof. "If I need to, I can consult with a referring doctor or check a patient's medical record. Having staff and services under one roof benefits the doctor and the patient."

Baumstark holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from Iona College, New Rochelle, N.Y., and earned his Doctor of Medicine degree from the University of Cincinnati in 1970.

He served his internship in internal medicine and his residency in radiology at Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, N.Y., 1970-71 and 1973-75, respectively. Baumstark was chief resident in radiology at the same institution from 1975-76.

Baumstark and his wife, Madalyn, have four sons, Bartholomew, Daniel, Jonathan and Luke.

Sound crazy? Not necessarily, as more and more Andover Bank customers are finding out.

Let's face it, "tax time" finds many of us temporarily short on cash, and as attractive as IRA's are, if we don't have the funds to join, we simply have to pass up this excellent investment.

That's why we've developed a plan to allow you to borrow the funds to open or add to your Andover Bank IRA before April 15th, at an unusually attractive rate.

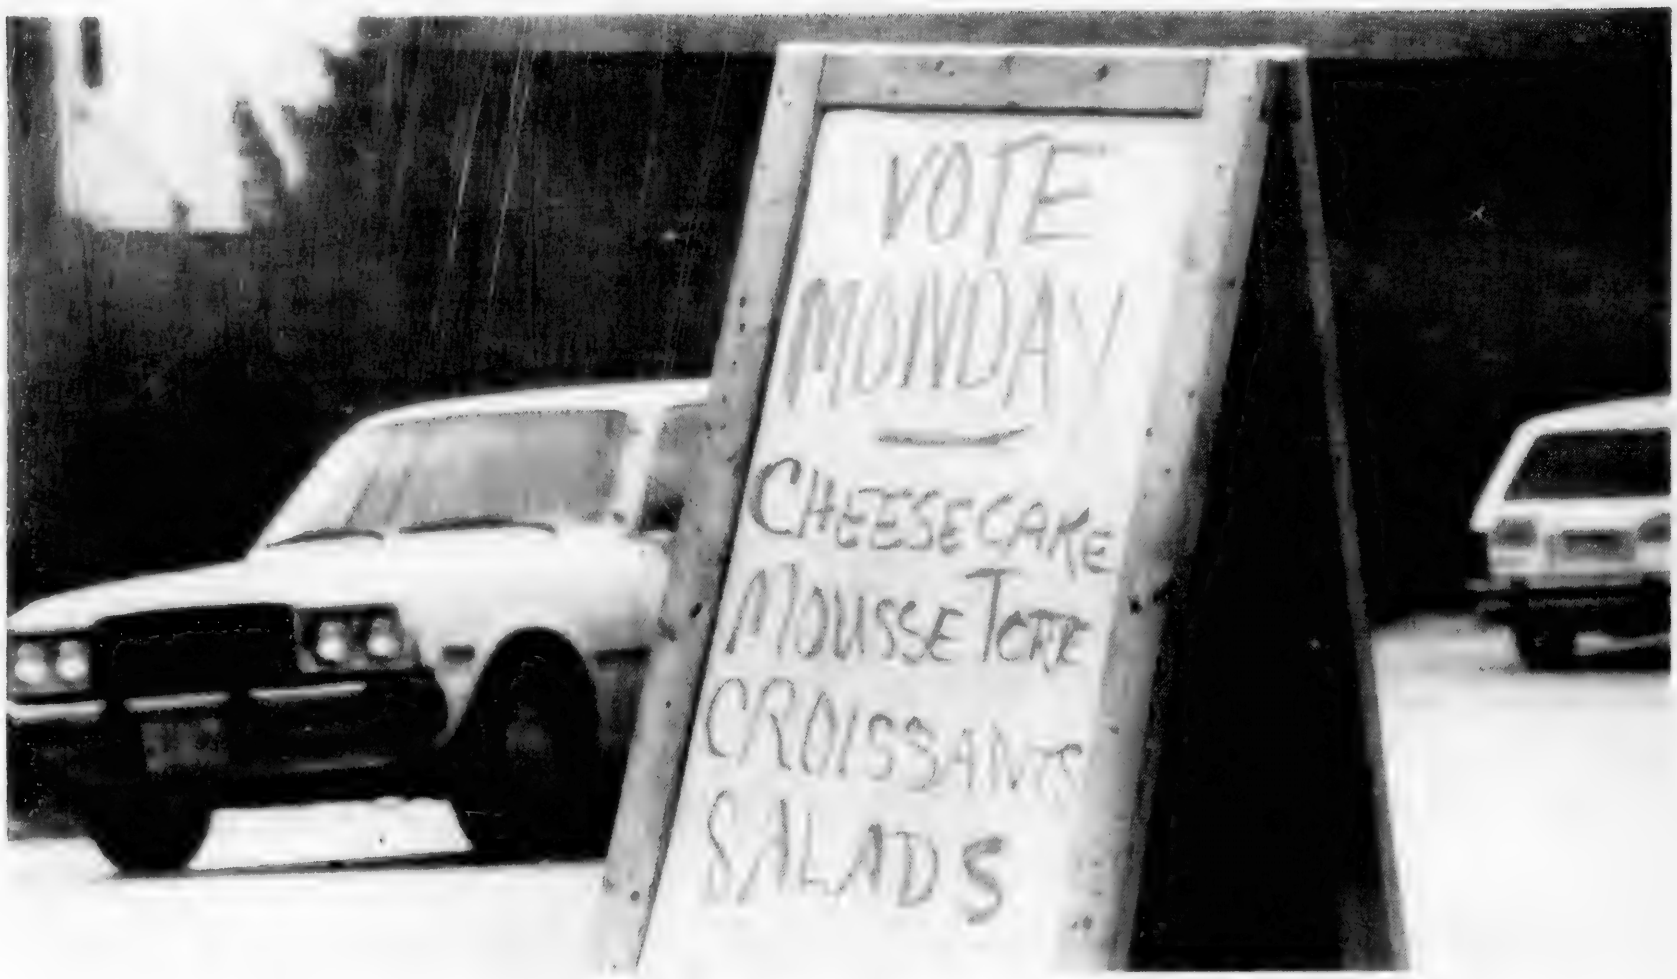

You'll gain two benefits immediately. First, your contribution will be tax deductible, and second, your earnings will be tax-deferred. And we'll show you how the tax benefits far outdistance the cost of your loan.

Elliott Winnick of Beverly and Frank Kaplan of Andover rehearse for D.K. Oklahoma's 'Quincy Market Winter' to be staged in Lowell.

Appearing In Lowell

A new kind of theater will premiere in Lowell on April 8 and 9 with the staged reading presentation of "Quincy Market Quintet" by D.K. Oklahoma at Merrimack Repertory Theater, 50 E. Merrimack St., at 7 p.m.

The suite of five new short plays, all of which are set in the Quincy Market area of Boston, are "works in process." Following each of the two performances, the author, director and cast will discuss the plays with the audience. Critique sheets will be distributed for written remarks.

Comments and suggestions from the audience will be incorporated into the final version of "Quincy Market Quintet" before full production. This represents the first time Lowell-area audiences have had an opportunity to help shape the finished form of a theatrical work.

The program is funded by the Massachusetts Arts Lottery Council as administered by the Lowell Arts Council. No admission will be charged, but seating is limited. The material is suitable for the entire family.

The plays incude four comedies, "Egg Story," "Chinese Pie," "Dressing Funny" and "Success Story" and one comedy/drama, "Cart Story." They range in length from five minutes to 40 minutes for a total program length of 115 minutes. Mara Clark will direct.

Auditions were held March 10 and a cast of outstanding actors was selected. Many have appeared in local dinner and community theaters. Volunteers will perform stage duties such as lighting, sound and house management.

Frank Kaplan from Andover will appear in several plays. He has an extensive background in community theatre.

This is really "living" theater at its best. . .and very exciting! No play is complete without the audience's input, but only in a staged reading like this can we get the input before the play is finished, when it can really make a difference.

"I hope that everyone will support this new type of theater program. If it goes well, we will try to do more performances like this in the future," she said.

"I'm very grateful to the Lowell Arts Council for giving us this opportunity and for the Merrimack Repertory Theater for providing the space for our show. Now all we need is an audience!"

Spring Musical In Rehearsal

A cast has been chosen and rehearsals are in full swing for Andover Community Theatre's musical production, "Seesaw," on April 26, 27, 28, May 3 and 4. "Seesaw" is Michael Bennett's ("Chorus Line, "Dreamgirls") innovative Broadway hit that recounts the bittersweet romance between a warm, lovable, zany, Brooklyn waif, Gittel Mosca, and her would-be Mr. Right, a stuffy, uptight, but vulnerable, midwest lawyer, Jerry Ryan. This endearing couple will be played by Maribeth Hinderer and Steve Halle, who have appeared together in A.C.T.'s recent musicals, "Chicago" and "Pippin." Aiding and abetting the play's star-crossed lovers are Gittel's two best friends, David, a gay choreographer, and Sophie, a Puerto Rican firecracker in love with men and life, in that order. They will be played by James J. Girgenti and Kelley McKinnon.

Co-directors are Frances White and James J. Girgenti. White has directed such diverse plays as "Deathtrap," "Come Blow Your Horn," "Oklahoma!' and most recently, West Junior High School's production of "The Hobbit." Girgenti is best remembered for his direction and choreography of A.C.T.'s productions of "Fiddler on the Roof," "Chicago" and "Pippin." He will choreography "Seesaw." Music will be under the direction of Michael Boutin, who has handled the musical direction for the above mentioned musicals.

The directors are still looking for more men for the chorus.

A.C.T. operates in conjunction with Department of Community Services.

Resident Has Lead In Musical

Andover resident Mrs. Barbara Bourgeous will appear with the Carousel Theatre Companies' production of "In One Bed. . .and Out the Other" at Giordano's Starlite Dinner Theatre in Georgetown April 11-28. She will appear as Huguette DuBois.

Bourgeois has appeared as Vera in "Ten Little Indians," Honey in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and most recently as the crotchety Mrs. Boyle in "Mousetrap." In this Mawby Green/Ed Feilbert comedy, Gaston duBois and his wife, Huguette, are bored from the monotony of married bliss.

For reservations, call Girodano's.

Workshop

To help alleviate the stress of insomnia, the Regional Health Center in Wilmington will offer an Insomnia Workshop on Thursdays, April 4-25, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The sleep/wake cycle and other aspects of sleep will be discussed, along with causes of insomnia. The main focus will be the discussion and demonstration of strategies and techniques which can help break the sleepless cycle.

Miss America To Appear

Sharlene Wells, Miss America 1985, will appear on stage with the Brigham Young University Young Ambassadors at the J. Everett Collins Center in Andover for one show only on Wednesday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Backed by a live show band, the 16 performers with the Young Ambassadors will take the audience on a musical journey through America in the 20th century. The show will include songs of Broadway, including "42nd Street" and "Memory," the fabulous '50s, including "See You in September" and "At the Hop," a circus medley, songs made famous by Walt Disney and a country music segment, including "Shenandoah" and other favorites.

Sharlene appeared last year in Andover as a regular member of the Young Ambassadors prior to receiving the Miss America crown. She says her experience as a Young Ambassador was a great help in her preparation to become Miss America. "From a peformance standpoint, I hadn't even touched a microphone before. I gained all my performance ability with the Young Ambassadors.

"I learned to live out of a suitcase and always keep smiling," said Wells when asked about the rigorous schedule she keeps as Miss America. "We performed eight shows in one day in Weakegan, Ill. That was suicide! I look back on that now and think this is easy."

Tickets are available at the Collins Center Box Office daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and at the Main Street offices of Andover Bank, Andover and North Andover, and Just For You, 36 Main St., Andover.

Weekend Recitals At Academy

The music department of Phillips Academy will present two recitals this weekend by three members of its music faculty, all prominent performers in the Boston area.

Eric Thomas, clarinetist, and Peter Warsaw, pianist, will perform Schumann's "Fantasiestucke," Debussy's "First Rhapsody" and "Sonatas" by Poulenc and Hindemith for clarinet and piano on Friday, April 12, in Graves Hall on the Andover campus at 7:30 p.m.

Thomas received his Bachelor of Music in Performance Degree in 1978 from the New England Conservatory of Music and continued on in the Master's Degree Performance Program. His concentrated Chamber Music studies were under Leonard Shure, Rudolph Kolisch, Gunther Schuller, John Heiss, Paula Robinson and others. He worked with the Aeolian Chamber players at Bowdoin College.

Thomas has performed extensively throughout the United States, Europe and South America. He has appeared with the Baltimore Symphony and the Medium Rare Big Band as a concerto soloist and has done several broadcasts for National Public Radio as a recitalist and chamber musician. Appearances in the United States include the Opera Company of Boston, Handel/Haydn Society, Harvard Chamber Orchestra, Goldowsky Opera Company, New Hampshrie Symphony and Lyric Arts Ensemble. Thomas has been affiliated with Opera New England and the Childrens' Opera Program, under the auspices of The Opera Co. of Boston, as conductor, lecturer, clarinetist and narrator for several years.

Warsaw began touring as a piano soloist at 15 while a student at Phillips Exeter Academy. He was chosen to perform with Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops while a freshman at Harvard. He toured New England and New York after graduation while continuing to study with Leonard Shure and, subsequently, Robert Goldsand.

Warsaw attended the Eastman School of Music where he studied with Maria Luisa Faini and received his M.M. degree in 1980 and his Doctor of Musical Arts degree in piano performance and literature in 1983. He has performed extensively in the eastern states with a performing appearance on television and recital chosen for nationwide broadcast over National Public Radio.

Violinist Frank Powdermaker will perform in recital with Warsaw on piano on Sunday, April 14, at 3 p.m. in Graves Hall.

The recital will include "Sonata No. 1 in G minor" by Bach, "Caprices" by Paganini, Ysaye's Sonata No. 6 in E, Coleridge-Taylor Perkinson's Blue/s Forms and works of Capelletti, Vieuxtemps and Wieniawski.

Powdermaker is a graduate of the Juilliard School in New York and a former winner of the Boston Symphony Orchestra Youth Competition. He has appeared as soloist with orchestras and in recital on radio and television and at Alice Tully Hall, Carnegie Recital Hall as well as in Austria, France, Germany, Switzerland and South America.

Powdermaker has been a prize winner in four international competitions, most recently the Tibor Varga International Competition in Switzerland.

Andover Soloist In Concert

Thirteen-year-old Elizabeth Ann Larson of Andover will be soloist with guest conductor Benjamin Zander and the Boston Classical Orchestra Wednesday and Friday, April 10 and 12, at 8 p.m. in historic Faneuil Hall.

She will play what may be the American premiere of Vivaldi's once-popular "Cuckoo Concerto." Her performance is part of the orchestra's celebration of Handel's 300th birthday which Zander has planned in cooperation with composer-musicologist William Malloch.

A student of Mary Lou Speaker Churchill at the Extension Division of the New England Conservatory, Larson plays in the Youth Chamber Orchestra, conducted by Zander. She is winner of the 1983 Harry Dubbs Concerto Competition and has been soloist with a number of community orchestras, including the Concrod, Brookline and Merrimack Valley Symphonies. She was guest soloist with the Boston Pops on the Esplanade in June 1983, under the direction of the Boston Classical Orchestra's music director, Harry Ellis Dickson.

The source for this authentic Handel gala is a barrel organ catalog programmed for the Earle of Bute in 1762 by Handel's assistant, John Christopher Smith, the younger. The music will be played exactly according to Smith's selection and ordering and the tempos (sometimes highly unexpected ones) are exactly as Smith programmed the music to go. Besides the Vivaldi Violin Concerto, there will be Corelli's Concerto Grosso, Op. 6, No. 9, the Vivaldi Oboe Concerto Op. 7, No. 1 (Peggy Pearson, soloist) and Handel oratorio excerpts, including music from Samson, Deborah, Alexander's Feast, the Occasional Oratorio and Judas Maccabaeus. Soloists will be Susan Larson and Janet Brown, sopranos and members of the Chrous pro Musica, Donald Palumbo, music director.

Tickets are available at Bostix, Quincy Market, or Out of Town Tickets, Harvard Square.

Country Music Featured

Some of the finest flat pickers around combine with a rich blend of vocal harmonies in a traditional Blue Grass experience as The Doug Dillard Band and The Northwest Bluegrass Band bring their country music to the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts in Andover on Friday, April 12, at 8 p.m.

Dillard and his group of outstanding musical artists have attracted millions to their foot-stomping, hand-clapping, banjo-style bluegrass. Doug, a banjo master and founder of the band, has had a unique career. An original member of The Byrds, he worked with other famed performers, including The Beachboys, The Monkees, Glen Campbell and Linda Ronstadt. It was his five-string banjo featured on the soundtracks for the films "Bonnie and Clyde," "Vanishing Point" and "Bunny O'Hare," among others. He also appeared in "Popeye" and Bette Midler's "The Rose."

The voices of Ginger Boatwright (former lead singer with Red, White & Blue) and Kathy Chiavola have contributed significantly to the band's dynamic sounds. Ginger's "voice of an Appalachian earth mother" and Kathy's operatic background add spice to Doug's banjo and Jonathan Yudkin's fiddle.

Bill Hall and the Northwind Bluegrass, dedicated to playing traditional bluegrass classics, are best known for their two, three and four-part harmony. A member of the New England Council for the Performing Arts, and the New England Touring Program, the eight-year-old band has become one of New England's premiere bluegrass bands.

Tickets are available at the Collins Center Box Office, Shawsheen Road, off Route 133, near Route 93 in Andover.

SETTLING PERSONAL INJURY CLAIMS
Persons injured in accidents are often contacted directly by an insurance company and asked to give details of the accident or address settlement. Talking to an insurance adjuster yourself or settling your claim before you understand its true value can be a very costly mistake. It is wise to consult an attorney as soon as possible and to refer all questions concerning the accident to your attorney. Contact Neil E. Onerheim or John S. Landesberg Concert Rescheduled

One local effect of the recent television writers' strike in Hollywood and New York has been a rescheduling of the Steve Landesberg concert at Merrimack College.

Landesberg, the comedian and actor best known for his portrayal of Det. Arthur Dietrich on the television series "Barney Miller," will perform in concert at Merrimack on Tuesday, April 2, at 8 p.m. in the Volpe Complex on the North Andover campus.

Landesberg was forced to postpone his March 27 appearance at Merrimack because of a commitment to NBC to host "Saturday Night Live." The commitment includes the week prior to air date for script conferences and rehearsals. He was supposed to host the show earlier this month, but the writers' walk-out forced his appearance to be rescheduled to March 30.

Ticket information is available by contacting the Merrimack College Student Activities Office.

New Deacon Ordained In Special Ceremony At Church

By Susan Rand

Christ Church got a new deacon Monday evening in a special ceremony, departing from usual Episcopal practice.

Andrew C. Hamersley's ordination was a combination of external and internal experiences. Some of the thoughts that have since flooded his mind are hard to put into words as the new deacon tries to explain how this new role has changed his life.

The affection and the loving support of family, friends and church members was evident Monday as 350 persons lined the pews of the Central Street church. There, too, was a spiritual transformation that Hamersley likens to trying to explain how it feels to be married or what he imagines the feelings of childbirth to be.

"I think anyone would be changed by it," he simply says, in his characteristically understated style.

It has taken the 31-year-old Red Spring Road resident five years to get to this point in his religious life. A graduate of the Episcopal Divinity School, in Cambridge, where he was recognized for special competency in biblical studies when he received his master's degree in divinity, Hamersley and his wife, Rosamond "Rozzy" Hooper-Hamersley, came to Andover last May when he was named curate at Christ Church.

But it has not been all scripture and Sunday School for Hamersley who said he always imagined himself a baseball player. He has driven a cab, worked as a freelance filmmaker and now gets his exercise by swimming at the Y.M.C.A., on his lunch break. He has undergraduate degrees from Boston University in film, from the School of Public Communications, and philosophy and religion from the College of Liberal Arts.

He started, as do all Episcopal priests, as an aspirant, one who aspires, or wishes to become a priest. Before entering seminary the first step towards the priesthood is the recognition that such a desire exists. Next, the aspirant becomes a postulant, now in the first part of seminary education. After six months as a postulant, the fledgling priest becomes a candidate, an 18-month position which is what Hamersley was when he was ordained. The next step will be his ordination into the priesthood a year from now, also at Christ Church.

In the Episcopal Church a deacon is considered an assistant to the parish priest. Deacons are the link with church members and the community. An example of this connection is manifested as deacons accept the weekly offering of money at worship service. Long ago this collection was doled out to those in need, now the acceptance is a symbol, explains Hamersley.

As a deacon he may also read the gospel at communion and assist as the priest prepares the bread and wine, Hamersley said. The deacon can give the communion to worshipers but may not consecrate, or bless, the communion.

"My primary function is to manage and oversee the pastoral care of the congregation," Hamersley said. In this capacity he will organize parish committees, keep close watch of those church members in the hospital and coordinate visits to the ill and shut-ins.

Hamersley's ordination was unusual because it was at Christ Church. In Massachusetts Episcopal deacons are annually ordained at the Cathedral of St. Paul, in Boston, by the Episcopal Bishop of Massachusetts. Special permission was given to Hamersley for his Andover ordination because Christ Church needs him, with Rector Rev. James A. Diamond sidelined after knee surgery and Assistant Rector Rev. Marjean Bailey preparing to travel to Kenya for a month this spring.

With over 2,000 members, Christ Church is one of the largest in this Episcopal district, says Hamersley.

Hamersley's mentor, the Rev. Richard Muir, from Cohasset, participated in the ordination. It was while at Rev. Muir's parish that Hamersley realized the importance of religion in his life. Rev. Muir preached during Hamersley's ordination. And retired Bishop Rev. Roger Blanchard, from southern Ohio, performed the ritual.

Monday night had one surprise for Hamersley as he received sash, called vesting in the ceremony, in a rather unusual way.

Rozzy Hooper-Hamersley walked from her church pew with her husband's bright red vestment, a sash she had secretly bought for him. His wife, in cooperation with the priests, planned this special departure from the usual ordination service. She placed the sash on his left shoulder and helped fasten it at his right hip then asked, quietly, if she might kiss her husband, the new deacon. She was given permission as Bishop Blanchard smiled and said "that's not in the book."

Sometimes the responsibility of his position is frightening, confided Hamersley.

"All of us buy into the notion that to be clergy you have to be better," he explained. "It's wrong but it is there."

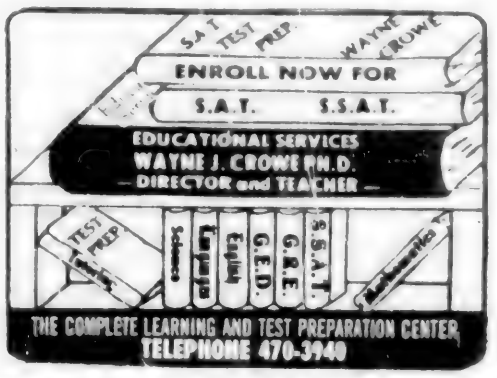

Yet, when he considers his task he reduces it to the barest of explanations. Simply put, his God transforms his life to let him "be there" for people.

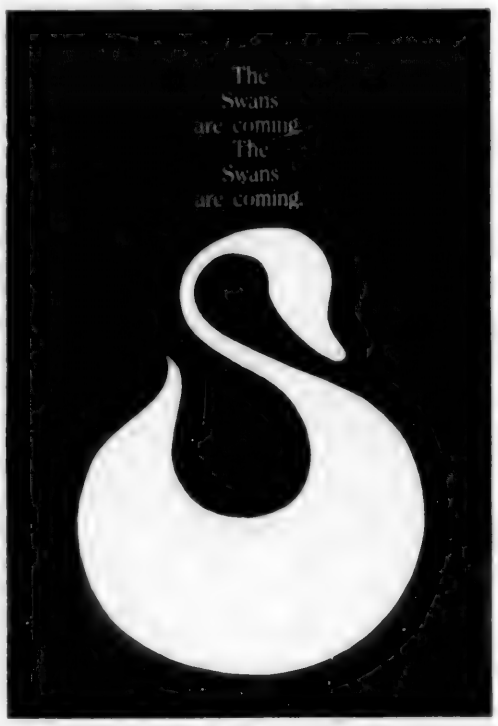

"All we are trying to do is to be friends," Hamersley says. "To love each other."

In Sumatra, tin may not be carried into a gold mine for fear it may make the gold flee.

The fundamental idea of good is that it consists in preserving life, in favoring it, in wanting to bring it to its highest value, and evil consists in destroying life, doing it injury, hindering its development.

Town Meeting

11.5 million gallons-per-day capacity to a 24 million gallons capacity. When the plant was opened in 1974, town planners anticipated that such an expansion would be needed by the mid-1980s.

Voters can decide to fund a new three-million gallon water storage tank on Wood Hill with the $1.8 million appropriation sought in Article 16. The town is currently served by an existing one-million gallon tank on Wood Hill.

Article 15 would appropriate $1 million for new water lines to reach both the expanded water treatment plant and the new water storage tank.

Improvements to River Road, near Old River Road, have been proposed by town planners in Article 17, which will probably come up for discussion on Monday night as well.

The $1 million appropriation requested in that article would pay for three traffic lights to be installed on River Road, the widening of a small portion of the road near the intersection of Old River Road, and the re-alignment of its intersections with Old River Road and North Street.

Further along in the warrant, voters will be asked to approve the use of town-owned and town-controlled land off Red Spring Road as the site of a municipal maintenance building. As proposed in Article 47, the brick building would not be used for vehicle maintenance, and no vehicle storage would be permitted outside the building.

Three conservation articles in the first half of the warrant will ask town meeting to authorize the conservation commission's acquisition of new open space for the town.

Article 23 would approve the $16,500 acquisition of a 6.5-acre parcel between Lowell Street and the Route 93 interchange; the site has been partially stripped for gravel and has no frontage.

Sixty acres located along Fish Brook, owned by the Boloian family, would be acquired for $145,000 if Article 24 is approved.

And Article 25, if approved by voters, would authorize the $17,500 acquisition of a seven-acre "land-locked" parcel between Lowell Street and the Route 93 interchange (next to the land described in Article 23).

Near the middle of the 82-article agenda, town meeting will consider four private articles proposed by John Doyle of Reservation Road. Article 41 would increase the quorum required for town meeting from the current 350 to 1,000 voters; and Article 42 would require the town moderator to conduct town meeting by Robert's Rules of Order (rather than his/her own rules).

Also: Doyle's Article 43 would require the town to send voters a town meeting report "devoid of editorial comment" (in addition to the current Finance Committee report, which includes town officials' recommendations); and his Article 45 would appropriate $400 to tape town meeting in its entirety and make transcripts available to the public.

The warrant includes 16 proposed street acceptances, Articles 49 through 64. Of these, the selectmen have found that Charlotte Drive, Peppercorn Lane, Montclair Drive, Governors Drive, Penni Lane, Gavin Circle, Wyncrest Circle, and a portion of Ballardvale Road that is now part of Wyncrest Circle are all ready for town meeting's consideration.

They have reserved judgment until Monday night on Winchester Drive, Windmere Drive, Cricket Circle, Berkeley Lane, Ellsworth Road, Wellington Circle, and Belle Haven Drive.

One condition of their approval of the last four streets on that list (located in the Far Corners subdivision off Bailey Road) is to be the removal of a ten-foot boulder located at the hub of those streets. Residents have called the boulder a dangerous nuisance.

Cattle Crossing (Article 63) has been withdrawn from the warrant.

The FinCom report warns that town meetings are "not for the faint of heart" — and voters may indeed need to summon large quantities of patience and stamina as they move toward the end of next week's warrant.

The planning board has proposed an eight-page article, Article 65, that would revise the parking sections in the zoning bylaw. The revisions are intended to tighten up off-street parking requirements and all but eliminate the existing system of parking "credits" for downtown businesses.

The result, the planners hope, would keep existing parking problems in check, and help Andover plan for future expansion of the central business district as well.

Another eight-page planning board proposal, Article 67, would revise the zoning laws on multiple-family housing. If approved, its most dramatic result would be the creation of a zone to allow new multi-family or "attached cluster" housing.

That housing would have the same population density as single-family housing in each residential zone, the planners have explained, but the bylaw is designed to encourage smaller buildings and the preservation of open space.

Four private articles will ask voters to allow business uses on downtown residential parcels, by rezoning those properties from Single Residence A to General Business.

In Article 72, John Caron, a North Andover funeral director, has proposed the rezoning of four Elm Street lots for business use, so that he may open a new funeral home at 42-44 Elm St. (A similar proposal was narrowly defeated at last year's town meeting; last year's article included only 42-44 Elm St., and not the neighboring three lots.)

Article 73 seeks to rezone 6 Punchard Ave., a four-unit apartment house owned by Douglas and Clifford Howe, Jr. The rezoned property would be used as offices, according to the Howes.

The next article would rezone 72 Park St., owned by Claire and Daniel Morin; their plans for the property are uncertain at this time.

Finally, Article 75 would rezone 12 Bartlet St., owned by Marion Colgate. J.B. Doherty Associates, a real estate firm now located across the street from the Colgate house, would like to buy the property and use it for new offices.

The Knights of Columbus will also ask voters to rezone residential land: Their Article 77 seeks the rezoning of the six-acre K. of C. property on Frontage Road from Single Residence C to Industrial D.

If town meeting approves that rezoning, Charter Development Corp. of Wakefield plans to build a $6 million, three-story office building on the property. Charter currently holds an option to buy the site from the K. of C.

The meeting will close with discussion of a private proposal to transfer control of 96 acres of town-owned land on Cross Street away from the selectmen/school committee (legal opinions seem to diverge on which board does in fact control the land) and to the conservation commission.

Article 82 has been proposed by a group of West Andover residents who fear development of that land, which was recently discussed as one possible site for a recreation center and ice rink.

Town officials would like to retain control of at least part of the property, explaining that it may one day be needed as the site of a new school.

The world's widest hotel lobby is that of the Grand Hotel Taipa in Taiwan. It measures 154 ft. by 114 ft. and 31½ ft. high.

Christ Church Parish Choir

Choir To Present 'Requiem'

Nadia Boulanger, one of the greatest French pedagogist and composers of this century, referred to the Faure "Requiem" as "one of the greatest works that does honor to music and thought. Nothing clearer in definition or purer has been written."

Composed in 1887, the "Requiem" is being presented on the Wednesday of Holy Week, April 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall of Christ Church, Central Street, Andover, by the parish choir and members of the church's Schola Cantorum, under the direction of Earl L. Miller, the parish's music director.

Born in 1845, Gabriel Faure was a student of the noted organist and teacher Camille Saint-Saens and organist at several notable churches in Paris. He became a noted teacher, composer, organist and was promoted to the highest class in the French Legion of Honor.

The "Requiem," appropriate for Holy Week services, is composed of seven sections: Introit and Kyrie (Grant Us Eternal Rest); Offertory (O Lord, Deliver the Soul of the Departed); Sanctus (Holy, Holy, Holy); Pie Jesu (Blessed Jesus); Agnus Dei (Lamb of God); Libera me (Deliver me From Doom); In Paradise (May the Angels Receive you into Paradise).

Terry Morgan will be the soprano soloist and Santo Cataudella, guest artist, will be the baritone soloist.

The concert is open to the public.

Smoking

ernment should have a hand in," Belle Isle said. "If you are going to close the smoking area it should extend to the teaching adults in the schools. Why aren't teachers being forced not to smoke in school for their own good?"

Robb was critical of the students' response to the adminstrative decision, saying they neglected to suggest what they could do to solve the problem of drug use in the smoking area.

"Propose ideas and policy suggestions to the high school administration," he suggested. To the question of legality of the decision, Robb said he was unaware of court decisions setting a precedent in such a situation.

The students took the first steps to create alternatives to the decision yesterday morning when those who attended the School Committee meeting met with Richardson and Seifert. Richardson told THE TOWNSMAN he and the superintendent talked with the students about discussing the smoking decision with students and members of the student government.

Although Richardson conceded Tuesday night's discussion was mostly negative, he is convinced that good will come out of the closing of the smoking area.

"To get things going it's got to take a certain amount of negative things in the big picture," said the acting principal.

School Committee members differed in their comments on the situation, with one criticizing the decision-making procedure and two others lauding administrators for having the students' health in mind.

New School Committee member David Birnbach suggested that peer pressure forced high school students to tell him smoking was acceptable at the high school during a recent assembly for candidates in this week's School Committee elections. He challenged the students to tell their peers not to smoke in the school bathrooms.

Committee member Susan T. Poore said the real issue was the use of drugs in the school, not a smoking area. She added that she wished she had been informed of the decision before Tuesday evening.

"There are a lot of contorted communication systems going on," Poore said.

Committee member Richard E. Neal suggested the no-smoking decision was made in the best interests of the students, a position committee member Michael R. Giammusso seconded, saying he didn't consider smoking a student right.

Mary Robb, daughter of Committee Chairman Robb, a high school student who signed the petition, asked for the return of the smoking area if students

Work Begins On Cleary House

Work has started at David and Hermine Cleary's new house, at 123 North Main St., which will take the place of the home a commuter bus knocked-off kilter last May.

A suit pending against the Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority hasn't yet been assigned a court date but David Cleary said that isn't stopping him from starting work on the foundation, all that sits on his property.

In addition, the Cleary's are awaiting a settlement with their insurance company over how much they will be reimbursed for the damage to their home, David Cleary said.

It was May 10 when a MVRTA bus traveling south towards the center of town veered off North Main Street and into the Cleary home. Judged unsafe by town officials, the home was torn down last fall. Since then the family has been renting in Andover but hope to be back on North Main Street by June.

Their new home will be a two-family dwelling, styled much the same as their old home, which had just received $50,000 worth of renovations when it was hit.

Another Tenant For Mall

Another business has signed on to lease space in Robert Finlayson's Park Street Village mall and plans to open in early May.

Andover resident James Frazier, Whittier Street, will run the Andover Entertainment Center in 1,689 square feet of space on the first floor of the Park Street building, bringing the number of businesses there to five.

Finlayson says he has room for eight more stores and some 5,000 feet of office space to rent on the empty third floor of the development. He concedes that the mall is filling "very slowly," a factor which he said is bad for the businesses already open in the mall.

"The more full it gets the more traffic it generates," Finlayson said.

Frazier's store will join the Lingerie Showroom, a furniture store called Country Traditionals; Cristina's, a women's clothing store; and The Reading Game, a private tutorial service.

The Andover Entertainment Center will stock records, tapes and compact discs, televisions, video cassette recorders, stereo equipment, computers and software. Frazier said he isn't sure what name brands he will carry. He will run the new store along with two or three other employees.

A new venture for Frazier, he said he decided Andover needed a store that sold records and tapes, since one didn't exist in town. "That's what got me interested," he explained. "Then I decided I would expand on that. I look at it as a department store for entertainment equipment and software."

PRIVATE PARKING FACILITIES NON-SECTARIAN

Serving The Andovers For Decades

Two prominent funeral directors, combining 75 years of funeral service experience, have joined together to extend their expertise to the Andover community.

John D. Caron and Malcolm E. Lundgren, associated together as partners in the Caron Funeral Home of North Andover, are now attempting to provide proper funeral home facilities, centrally located in the town of Andover, a much needed professional service because of the closing of two funeral homes in the town during the past two years.

Long associated with North Andover, where his father R. George Caron provided the first funeral home facility for the North Andover community, Caron aspires to the same accomplishment in Andover.

Both men bring to their profession a tradition of family commitment to funeral service.

Malcolm Lundgren's father Everett established the Lundgren Funeral Home in Andover in 1913. At a very young age Malcolm began to assist his father and in 1932 was licensed as a funeral director. He continued in the funeral profession until the early 1960's, basing his service on the credo "Serving as we would be served."

Malcolm Lundgren's return to funeral service this past year was prompted by his concern for the people of Andover, who after the closing of two funeral homes in two years, were faced with the dilemma of having no centrally located facility to which they had long been accustomed. This year Malcom will receive his 50 year Masonic Pin of Saint Matthew's Lodge A.F. & A.M.

Impressed with the interest, dedication, and hard work demonstrated by John Caron in attempting to secure, for the people of Andover such a facility, Lundgren, following the death of R. George Caron, joined John Caron at his North Andover facility. Together they both hope to accomplish the goal of restoring appropriate funeral service to the Andover townspeople at the 42-44 Elm Street location. They have found no other locations, in their search during the past year, that they feel would serve the needs of Andover residents. The parking facility for 50 cars, with no unnecessary moving about for mourners the day of the funeral, deems the location desirable.

Like Lundgren, Caron too, joined his father in funeral service. In the early 1940's the elder Caron established the R. George Caron Funeral Home in North Andover. Since that time, it has been North Andover's leading funeral home. Following in his father's footsteps, John Caron also graduated from the New England College of Applied Sciences (where he has since served as an instructor for several years), and Burdett College, and became a licensed funeral director, joining his father in 1959. His daughter, Mary Lou, a junior at the University of Lowell, majoring in Health Administration, is a registered licensed apprentice funeral director under the tutelage of her father and Lundgren and has entered the profession. His son, John D. Caron, Jr., a senior at Phillips Academy, shows interest in his father's and grandfather's profession and will assist in the family concern this summer as a registered apprentice serving the Andover community.

Well known in the Merrimack Valley for his many civic and charitable endeavors, Caron has played an active role in the community. He served for many years as the Chairman of the American Cancer Society, is currently on the Board of Directors of Merrimack College, Men of Merrimack, and holds membership in the Lions Club, the Elks, the Bon Secours Hospital Mens' Guild, the Msgr. Shea Council K of C and Father O'Donnell 4th Degree K of C.

Caron's interest in Andover first developed when he served on the Board of Directors and as a member of the Building Committee of the Andover - North Andover, Y.M.C.A. during its building and fund raising endeavors. His son's enrollment at Phillips Academy has strengthened his ties to the community and has given added impetus to his interest in the area. In the near future he plans to assume an active roll in Andover community affairs.

The support of the Andover townspeople for the 42 Elm Street funeral home at the annual Town Meeting in April is of paramount importance if this much needed service is indeed to become a reality.

Last year John Caron came within 18 votes of locating a funeral home in the central part of Andover, at 42 Elm Street, at a location which Andover residents have been accustomed to for the past 80 years.

This year, with YOUR support, vote and attendance at Town Meeting, Andover's funeral service needs can be realized: Please attend the Annual Town Meeting at the J. Everett Collins Center on April 2 or 3 and vote for Article 72.

Last year 18 votes made the difference. This year YOUR VOTE can make the difference. Please attend and bring your friends and neighbors.

Thank you. Malcolm E. Lundgren, John D. Caron, Funeral Directors

Low Voter Turnout Causes Anxious Moments In Election

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Three newcomers to town politics gave School Committee incumbent Susan Poore a few nervous minutes Monday night, as the first returns from the annual town election came in at town offices on Bartlet Street.

The race between the four school candidates remained claustrophobic to the finish, when Poore won re-election with 25 percent of the total vote, and David Birnbach won a vacant seat on the committee — and became the most popular candidate — with 26 percent.

In the only race on Monday's ballot, winners Birnbach, with 852 votes, and Poore, with 839 votes, barely edged past June Blake of 25 Chester St. at 816 votes (25 percent), and Sean Gresh of 5 Patricia Circle at 753 votes (23 percent).

Former selectman Poore, of 85 Osgood St., now starts her second three-year term on the school committee, while 24-year-old Birnbach, of 2 Bellevue Road, takes up his first elective office. He'll fill a vacancy left by Robert Smith, who did not run for re-election after serving one three-year term.

Precinct	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	Total
Poore	72—21% (0)	109—23% (181)	72—24% (253)	111—24% (364)	191—26% (555)	117—24% (672)	100—25% (772)	67—25%	839
Birnbach	70—20% (0)	123—25% (193)	71—25% (264)	137—26% (401)	149—26% (550)	184—27% (734)	58—26% (792)	60—26%	852
Blake	111—32% (0)	82—25% (193)	71—25% (264)	102—24% (366)	106—22% (472)	105—23% (622)	103—24% (725)	91—25%	816
Gresh	89—26% (0)	104—25% (193)	69—25% (262)	96—24% (358)	151—24% (509)	90—22% (599)	85—23% (648)	69—23%	753

Note: This chart shows the votes garnered by the four candidates for two seats on the School Committee in Monday's election. The number to the left of the dash shows the votes cast for the candidate in each precinct. Following the dash is the cumulative percentage of votes as they were tallied from Precincts One through Eight. The number in parenthesis shows the vote total as it added up from Precinct One through Precinct Eight.

As the final results were posted at town offices at around 8:50 p.m. Monday (less than an hour after the polls closed), Poore congratulated Gresh on his strong showing. (Birnbach and Blake were not on hand at that moment.) She noted that newcomers to the town, like Gresh, are often at a disadvantage with Andover voters.

Apparently in a philosophical mood, Gresh, a writer, commented, "I'll be able to finish my book faster."

The rest of the ballot offered no surprises — and little incentive for voters to come to the polls — with a lineup of unopposed candidates.

Incumbent William Dalton of 9 Old South Lane will return to the Board of Selectmen for a second three-year term. He'll be joined by John Scileppi of 27 School St., who ran unopposed for the seat left vacant by Norma Gammon.

Dalton earned 1,149 votes, 56 percent of the total, while Scileppi won 1,133 votes, or 43 percent.

James Doherty of 9 Juniper Road will wield the gavel as town meeting moderator once again next week, after winning 1,491 votes. He was also unopposed for that one-year office.

Gerald Grasso of 61 Arthur Road will represent Andover for the next three years on the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational School Committee; he won 1,498 votes in his uncontested run.

Richard Savrann of 11 Sheridan Road was returned to the Andover Housing Authority for another five-year term, while Ronald Hajj of 22 Enmore St. will serve the last year of the late Thomas Eldred's five-year term. (Hajj was appointed to the housing authority vacancy last year by the selectmen.)

Savrann was given 1,327 votes and Hajj, 1,326.

Finally, five candidates were elected to five three-year seats as Trustees of Punchard Free School: incumbents Earl Efinger of 5 Iceland Road (1,188 votes), Joan Lewis of 12 Elysian Drive (1,245 votes) and John Petty of 10 Talbot Road (1,146 votes), who will serve along with new members Robert Finlayson of 39 Abbot St. (1,160 votes) and Frederick Pease, Jr. of 9 Stinson Road (1,157 votes).

Computerized ballot-counting provided a few minutes of drama for the small group of candidates and friends who gathered at town offices Monday night, as the votes were tallied precinct by precinct.

In the school committee race, Precinct One had Blake and Gresh firmly in the lead, at 32 percent and 26 percent, respectively. Poore followed at 21 percent and Birnbach, at 20 percent.

The candidates shared the votes almost evenly in the next three precincts. With the totals in for Precinct Two, Birnbach, Blake and Gresh each had 25 percent, while Poore had 23 percent of the total.

With the Precinct Three votes in, Birnbach, Blake and Gresh still had 25 percent of the vote each, while Poore pulled up to 24 percent.

And with the Precinct Four votes tallied, Birnbach had 26 percent of the total, while Poore, Blake and Gresh shared 24 percent.

The two winners pulled ahead with the Precinct Five votes, which gave Birnbach and Poore each 26 percent of the total count. Gresh held at 24 percent, and Blake fell slightly to 22 percent.

Those percentages held fairly fast when votes were counted for the last three precincts. The Precinct Six totals saw Birnbach at 27 percent and Poore at 25 percent, while Blake slipped to 23 and Gresh, to 22 percent.

After Precinct Seven, Birnbach was at 26 percent of the total and Poore, at 25; Blake had 24 percent of the total and Gresh, 23 percent.

Precinct Eight gave the candidates their final percentages: Birnbach, 26 percent; Poore, 25 percent (839 votes); Blake, 25 percent (816 votes); and Gresh, 23 percent.

Selectman Dalton was among those looking over the returns at town offices Monday night, along with Selectmen Chairman Donn Byrne and Selectman Charles Wesson. Candidates Poore, Gresh, Birnbach and Hajj were on the scene for the results as well.

Sunny weather and the school committee contest were not enough to draw most voters to the annual election Monday, when only 1,878 townspeople — 11 percent of Andover's 17,000 registered voters — found their way to Dunn Gymnasium.

But it was not the town's lowest turnout by any means, he added: That honor remains with 1981, when only 770 townspeople came out to vote.

Blake Considers, Rejects Recount

A mere 23 votes separated the winners of two seats on the School Committee and third place finisher June Blake who considered requesting a recount of the 3,260 votes cast in the close four-way contest because the ballots were hard to read.

But Blake decided against petitioning for the second tally of votes, conceding that it wouldn't make a difference. The problem with the ballots, she said, was that the holes voters punched on the ballots didn't line up with the names of the candidates. It is not a question of counting how many residents voted for Blake, she explained, but of how many thought they did and punched the incorrect hole.

Blake's name followed David Birnbach, the top vote getter, on the ballot. And, said Blake, voters may have marked his name, thinking they were voting for her. Susan Poore, the other winner, was listed on the ballot above Birnbach, first of the four candidates, because she was running as an incumbent. Sean Gresh, who finished last, was listed after Blake.

"I don't know how serious it is," Blake said on Tuesday. "I know a recount would serve no purpose." Blake said some supporters told her they had marked the wrong names on their ballots and ripped them up, requesting another. She attributes the fact that some may have incorrectly marked their ballots to human error, not a problem with the ballot.

"I would just like to end it and go on," Blake said. "It was a friendly campaign and I met a lot of people."

School Committee member Michael P. Giammusso said, at Tuesday's School Committee meeting, that he had heard complaints about the ballot, adding that the problem should be brought to the Board of Selectmen to "make sure it won't happen again. You shouldn't have to be an engineer to make sure the system runs properly."

Let's Insure Democracy

Andover's annual exercise in what has been termed the purest form of democracy---town meeting---gets underway Monday night at the Collins Center.

There is little doubt that a quorum can be obtained and held throughout the session which could last three nights. The warrant is appropriately drawn up in such a manner as to keep the interest of the various groups in need of attention on either spending or zoning issues.

That the system is true demoracy in its finest form is hardly arguable. It remains today as it was when created by the founding fathers, government by the people of the community gathering to determine their municipal costs and control problems dealing with their community.

But times have changed since the farmers came into town on Saturday morning to vote, sit down for lunch at the church or the Grange, then resolve the town's problems at town meeting in the afternoon.

Now there are 15,000 eligible voters who could sally forth on the warrant in Andover, if they so desired. Of course the attendance will be far short of that figure when the moderator gavels the session to order on Monday night.

But those who are in attendance will have the opportunity of upsetting the Democratic process, as has happened in the past.

Certain groups with particular interests, get together and trade off proposals to insure the passage or defeat of certain articles, which is not always in the best interest of the community.

This year, there is a new and particularly strong group which will be making their voice heard at town meeting, namely the West Andover Neighborhood Association.

While the group does have personal concerns about their neighborhood and the growth which continues to take place there, it would seem more beneficial to the town for the group to consider issues as they relate to the growth of Andover as a whole and not confined simply to their neighborhood.

Naturally, to avoid a domination of the meeting by a single group, a good attendance from all sectors of the town would be beneficial. Hopefully, such will be the case and when various spending and zoning issues are ultimately decided the vote will be representative of community action.

That town meeting is pure democracy will be emphasized by the annual appearance of such speakers as John Doyle, who through this system is allowed to get some matters off his chest through the simple insertion of items in the warrant by petition.

But, this is the way Andover is governed, and as long as it continues to be the system, townspeople should exercise their right to determine the town's destiny by taking the few hours a year required to make it work in a Democratic fashion. Insure democracy by your attendance.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — March 1910

Two bright yellow daffodils were brought into the Townsman office on Wednesday from the estate of Peter D. Smith. Spring is indeed coming.

Ammon P. Richardson has accepted the position of agent for the burglar-proof safes which are being introduced. These safes are provided with grill interiors so that they are practically proof against yeggmen.

Burt A. Wheeler of Whittier street has succeeded A.P. Richardson in the jobbing and teaming business, and is now ready for orders.

So much interest in spelling was aroused last evening by the Varnum Lincoln spelling match that it has been decided to hold a similar contest for older people in Punchard hall. Members of the school committee, the town officers, ministers, lawyers, physicians, school teachers, business men and parents will be especially invited to take part.

Catania, Sicily, March 31. — This city is in terror, and thousands of residents are fleeing to the hills for safety from Mount Etna. A heavy fall of ashes has covered the town to a depth of six inches. Thirty craters are belching fire and lava and red hot stones bombard the country about the slopes of the volcano. Hundreds of tourists, the majority of them Americans, who came to view the spectacle, made haste to depart.

50 Years Ago — March 1935

Excavation for the boiler house to the rear of the Samuel Jackson school was started early yesterday morning. After the boiler house is excavated, the steam shovel will start on the excavation for the auditorium and gymnasium. There will be no need of digging for the new junior high building itself, since the level of the ground is over a story lower than that of the ground surrounding the high school.

The cause of physical education was advanced last night in a talk before the Andover Public School Teachers' association in Stowe School hall by Carl Schrader, superintendent of physical education for Massachusetts. Mr. Schrader advocated training the child for the proper use of leisure time which present day methods of living have brought. Music, art, manual training, homemaking courses should all be included, he said — not to develop artists or musicians, but to give the child when an adult something to do, something to interest him in his leisure time.

A unique program of entertainment was presented last night at the Service club meeting by Hans Helms. Mr Helms imitated with his voice the sounds of a piano and of several brass instruments, and he also sang soprano solo. Years of training were necessary to accomplish this, he stated.

25 Years Ago — March 1960

A nationally-known corporation that owns and operates several golf clubs around the country is vitally interested in developing a 27-hole course in West Andover. If present plans materialize, a club house valued at about $750,000 would be constructed. There will be swimming pools, tennis, and other activities designed for youngsters. Nine of the 27 holes would be for women, it was explained.

Twenty two merchants gathered at an early-morning meeting Wednesday, voted unanimously in favor of reverting to penny parking meters. Several Board members said they had been asked by individual merchants to have

Postal Lines Can Be Remedied

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

I wish to comment on portions of Mr. Nick Varitamo's Opinion letter in the March 14, 1985, issue of the TOWNSMAN. I feel that his letter did not address two certain practices at the post office which I believe are responsible for some of the complaints he responds to.

Virtually anyone whom I know can attest to the long lines at the post office building on Main Street. Mr. Varitamos points out that all businesses have similar problems during peak periods. He is correct. If I am at Barcelos, directly across the street from the post office building, when the lines at the cash registers become unreasonably long, something familiar happens. An additional cashier comes to the front of the store so that people will not be inconvenienced. I have found in my travels that Barcelos enjoys no monopoly on this practice of adding cashiers during peak periods—virtually every business with multiple registers uses it. When a business allows its customers to check out quickly, it enhances its reputation. Witness the Zayre department store advertisements stressing the ease of checkout there.

Unfortunately, the Andover post office seems not to have learned of this conveneient business practice. I have lived in Andover for almost 14 years. Only once have I ever seen the second window at the Andover Post Office opened for business. When that happened, the line was so long that it extended outside, through the swinging doors—I do not have to expound on how inanely those doors are set up—and let cold air rush inside. At all other times, regardless of the number of people in line, two clerks have been attending to customers.

I do not blame the rank-and-file of Mr. Varitamos' union for the practice of limiting the number of window clerks, because I have found the same thing happening in New Haven, where I attend college. There lines do not extend outside during the busiest periods, merely because the windows are farther from the exit. Alas, in New Haven, as well as in Andover, the second window is almost never used.

Because I maintain two addresses, one here in Andover and one in New Haven, and because I want to get my mail at my current address, I make frequent use of temporary mail forwarding. Current post office policy, it seems, is to print on each forwarding ticker the message "Inform sender of new address." I do not wish to inconveneience the post office by having it forward my mail, but I believe that it is easier for all parties concerned to have the post office forward the six pieces of mail I get over spring break than for it to send about 30 change of address cards when I go home and 30 more when I return.

I can overlook the nasty messages that the forwarding computer prints on my mail. What I resent is that it decided not to forward anything in January when I moved back to New Haven after winter break. Because there was a previous (expired, no less) forwarding order on file, it would not forward any more mail to my New Haven address. Such a forwarding snafu is bound to occur, if not to me, then to someone else, because post office policy does not consider customers' needs seriously enough.

Hearing On Day Care Center

A proposed day care center on Lowell Street will be considered by the Zoning Board of Appeals at their meeting Thursday, April 4.

Gwen B. Hedrick, 185 Lowell St., hopes to run the business at 274 Lowell St. but she needs a special permit from the Appeals Board.

According to the town's zoning bylaws, day care centers are allowed, with a special permit, in homes located in single residence A, B, and C districts, the apartment district and in general business. The bylaws also specify that Hedrick's business must be approved by the Board of Health. In addition it must provide an outdoor play area for the children.

Hedrick's Lowell Street property is located in Single Residence B.

Four other hearings are scheduled for the April 4 meeting, which will begin at 7:30 p.m., in the School Committee conference room, upstairs in the school administration building, Whittier Street.

Billerica residents Kevin and Maureen Hibbard will ask the board for a variance to allow them to build a single family home on a lot at 11 Pomeroy Road, which does not have frontage on a public way.

Allen and Carol Boucher, 172 Woburn St., will request modification of a February 1977 ZBA decision so they may subdivide their land into two lots, one of which will not have enough frontage when divided.

Two other hearings involve Andover residents who want to add onto their homes but don't have enough land near their proposed additions. Kathleen and Robert Kelley, 21 William St., will request a variance to add a kitchen and family room onto the rear of their home. And Mary and Robert Mason want to add a garage, bedroom and bath to their 50 Brookfield Road home. The Masons do not have enough land from the side of their home to the lot line.

Gardening Course

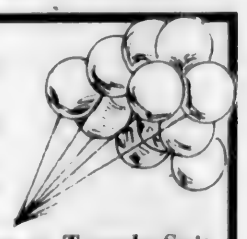

A nine-week course on home vegetable gardening will be conducted at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, beginning April 9, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The program will cover location of the garden, soil preparaton, selection of plants, insect and disease control, harvesting and related aspects of a successful garden.

Golden Warriors Ski To Title

By Dan Grams

The Andover High School Golden Warrior ski teams recently completed a very successful downhill season. The girls' team captured the league title for the second straight year while the boys tied St. John's for the boys' title. The Golden Warriors competed in a very competitive league of teams from St. John's, North Andover, Methuen, Bishop Fenwick, Andover, Haverhill, Austin Prep and Masconomet.

Cherl Crawford was the high-point finisher for the girls, while junior Rob Carpentier was the top finisher for the boys for the second straight year.

The Golden Warriors had several of their outstanding skiers selected to the Mass. State Representative Team. Sue Gertsberger, Amy Moynihan, Jenni Gagnon and Crawford were selected for the girls' state ski squad while Tom Sutton, Bob Thompson, Bruce Crawford and Carpentier were the boys' representatives.

Carpentier was the lone Golden Warrior to qualify for the National High School Championship. He recorded the 11th best downhill time in the first run and the best downhill time in his second trip to finish fifth overall in the state meet and qualify for the nationals in Bromley, VT.

The nationals featured 80 of the nation's top skiers competing in giant slalom and slalom races. Carpentier was very impressive, placing 13th in the giant slalom and 21st in the slalom.

Knight Medal Winner

The Andover Ski Club sent seven of its best racers to compete in the championship Thompson Trophy Race at Gunstock Ski Area on March 2. Thirty-three racers from Massachusetts were sent to compete against teams from New York, Connecticut, Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire and New Jersey. Massachusetts placed fourth.

Craig Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Knight, 4 Poplar Terrace, Andover, was the only male medal winner from the state, finishing in fifth place.

Amy Heseltine finished in sixth place. Other racers from the Andover team were Hillary Recesso, Joan Asgeirsson, Christine Durant, Jonathan Claeys and Adam Galvin.

Whale Watch

Greenpeace offers its eighth season of weekend whale watches from April 21 through October 19. The four-hour trips depart from either Provincetown or Plymouth. The boats travel to Stellwagen Bank, a summer feeding ground for several species of the great whales, six-20 miles off the coast.

Humpback whales are a favorite with whale watchers, often coming within 15 feet of the boats. Adult humpbacks are up to 50 feet long and weigh close to 40 tons. Finback and minke whales, dolphins and several species of seabirds are also commonly seen.

On Cable

Gary Muldoon, a 1978 graduate of Merrimack College, completed work on a major series of instructional television programs which deal with how to conduct a successful job search which will premiere on the Rollins Cable channel 2 television on April 9, 10 and 11 at 7:30 p.m.

The three 30-minute programs, entitled "Job Hunting Communication Skills," deals with a specific aspect of job hunting. The first show focuses on how to go about looking for a job, discussing the effectiveness of want-ads, employment agencies and personal networking. The second program examines the written material necessary when seeking employment and the third show covers the employment interview.

Jones, Smith, Marocco Take Top Warrior Hockey Award

By Rick Harrison

Seniors John Jones, Shane Smith and John Marocco were the big winners at the Andover High varsity ice hockey team's annual season-ending awards banquet.

The banquet, sponsored by the "Hat Trick Club" (parents and boosters organization) was held at the Sons of Italy Hall in Wilmington.

Jones, a Merrimack Valley Conference All-Star defenseman who is considering the University of Lowell and North Adams State for college, was named "Most Valuable Player" of the 1984-85 Golden Warriors' squad.

Marocco was a double recipient, the defenseman earning both the "Most Improved Player" award and being presented with a $100 academic scholarship by the Hat Trick Club.

Marocco will most likely attend Dean Junior College next fall.

Smith, a forward and the top scorer on AHS this year with 11 goals and 19 points, was named the club's "Unsung Hero."

Smith, a Golden Warriors' multi-sport standout (football and baseball), has been accepted at Cushing Academy in Wilbraham.

Dave Bartle, George Heseltine and Bob Pothier were also voted captains (by their peers) for the 1985-86 season. Bartle will be the No. 1 man, with Heseltine and Pothier serving as assistant captains.

Bartle and Heseltine are forwards, while Pothier formed one half of the Golden Warriors' surprisingly-strong goaltending tandem this past year.

Pothier finished with a 5-4-0 record, three

Lecture

Dr. Margaret Rule, archaeological director of the "Mary Rose" Project, will give an illustrated lecture at the Peabody Museum of Salem, East India Square, Salem, on April 26 at 8 p.m. in the East India Marine Hall.

The discovery, excavation and 1982 raising of the "Marty Rose," an English warship sunk at Spithead in 1545, is among the most important historic ship projects of all time. She was sunk unexpectedly before the eyes of King Henry VIII, and this sudden loss contributed to the remarkable preservation of the ship's contents.

The lecture is open to public at no charge.

shutouts against Billerica (1-0), Lawrence (8-0) and Greater-Lawrence Regional (10-0), and a sharp 2.73 overall goals-against average.

Several Andover players were presented with trophies in recognition of game-winning goals.

Shane Smith (Lawrence and Dracut) and senior forward Tom Marjerison (Wilmington and Haverhill) had a pair of game-winners apiece, while other deciding goals were netted by sophomore forward Glenn Allard (Billerica), junior forward Dan Moynihan (3-2 win over Cambridge Rindge & Latin), Dave Bartle (Wayland), sophomore forward Jeff McNeil (Weston), and senior forward Jeff Kennedy (Greater-Lawrence Regional).

All of the above-mentioned players earned varsity letters, while other letters were awarded to goaltender Greg Najjar, Mark Neaves, Brian Costello, John Gangi and Matt Young.

Each senior player also received an individual drawing of himself sketched by former AHS student Wes Bedrosian.

Hat Trick Club president Greg Smith directed the awards portion of the banquet, while first-year varsity coach Charlie Donovan and assistant Joe O'Donnell presented the trophies.

Andover enjoyed one of its most competitive seasons in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference this past winter, finishing at 6-9-1 in the league and 9-9-1 overall.

The highlight of the campaign was the 1-0 victory over perennial MVHL powerhouse Billerica, Glenn Allard netting the goal and Bob Pothier posting the shutout.

At the time the Indians, who finished second to Central Catholic in the final standings, were riding high and appeared headed for their 12th league title in the last 14 years.

The Golden Warriors will graduate seniors Shane Smith, Capt. Tom Marjerison, assistant captain Shaun Bateson, assistant captain John Jones, John Marocco and Jeff Kennedy.

Returning to form a strong nucleus, however, will be goaltenders Bob Pothier and Greg Najjar, defensemen Chris Sapuppo, Dave Curtis and John Gangi, and forwards Glenn Allard, Dan Moynihan, George Heseltine, Mark Neaves, Steve Donovan, Dave Bartle, Jeff McNeil, Matt Young and Brian Costello.

Andover Hockey Association

Pee Wee A

The Pee Wee A's wound up a successful season with two fine outings over the weekend.

Andover played one of its best games of the year, but was unable to topple first-place Triton in the Valley Youth Hockey League playoffs. The big, fast-skating champs hung on to defeat Andover 3-1. Colin Nix scored the lone goal with assists by John Melillo and Scott Halecki. Brian Novelline and Mike Murnane were gutsy between the posts, while defensemen Todd Allard, Joe Iarrobino, chris Pothier, Gary Bleszinski and Jim Morris provided great protection in front of the net. The high-scoring line of Ed Chaisson, Sean Darwin and Keith Cutler was shut out by a blanket Triton defense and Peter Arthur's scoring bids were stopped.

Coach Mike Murnane was heard to say, "They gave it all they had; I couldn't ask for more." Assistants Ed Chaisson and John Halecki agreed.

The Pee Wees ended their season where they started it—the DEM rink in Haverhill— and skated to a 3-3 tie. Darwin scored two goals and Chaisson added the third.

The Pee Wees had a satisfying season, considering that two thirds of the team were first year players. Only Murnane, Chaisson, Bleszinski, Morris, Iarrobino and Bryan Smith will move on to Bantams next season. Novelline, Darwin, Melillo, Cutler, Arthur, Pothier, Nix, Halecki and Allard will all be seasoned Pee Wee veterans in the coming year.

third period with a spectacular shot (assists Heather Norton, Brian Flanagan) which put the game out of reach for Swampscott, even though they scored their last goal midway through the third period. Fred Sunderland played an outstanding game in goal. High accolades should be accorded to the only three defense persons available who not only double and triple shifted, but played up on the line when needed. Brian Flanagan, Richie Enos and Norton gave their coach and the spectators a lesson on courage and tenacity.

Pony League Tryout Dates Set

The Andover Blue and Gold Pony League baseball teams, formerly Babe Ruth, will hold tryouts for their 1985 squads on Sunday, April 21, Saturday, April 27, and Sunday, April 28.

All three sessions will be held at the Andover High School varsity and JV fields.

All youngsters ages 13 to 16 years are eligible, but candidates must not turn 17 prior to August 1, 1985.

All 13- and 14-year-old youngsters should report to the field at 1 p.m. each day, while 15- and 16-year-old candidates should report at 3 p.m.

Andover Blue and Gold, formerly members of the now-defunct Greater Lawrence Babe Ruth League, will compete in the Reading Pony League this summer.

The 12-team, two-division league also includes teams from Wilmington, Lynnfield, Stoneham, North Reading and Reading.

Both Andover teams must carry a minimum of 15 players, with a maximum of 18 players. Both teams may carry no more than five 16-year-olds, with the remainder of the squad comprised of any combination of players ages 13-15.

All positions on both teams will be open, with last year's returning players required to earn their way back on the squad.

The league's regular season will consist of 16 games, each team playing every other team in its own division twice and teams in the other division once. The two Andover squads will be placed in different divisions. League play begins June 16 and runs through August 5, with the post-season playoffs following.

The Andover teams will also participate in several out-of-league tournaments during August, as they have in the past, and there is also the possibility the annual trip to Canada will resume this year.

All youngsters trying out and not selected for the Pony League teams will have the opportunity to try for the Andover Senior League as well. Senior League tryouts are set for May 4 and 5.

Anyone wishing further information on the Pony League should contact either Rick Harrison (475-2007 or 1-458-7100) or Dick Allard (470-0273).

Winners

Lee Weiner, 8 Pioneer Circle, Andover, was a member of a team that tied for 11th place in the Air Canada Swiss Teams, a one-day regional event. He was among champions of the American Contract Bridge League's 1985 Spring North American championship tournament March 8-17.

There were 336 teams in the competition.

Close School Board Race Ends A Friendly Campaign

By Susan Rand

The lead changed five times as the votes were tallied, precinct by precinct, in the race for two seats on the School Committee. But when David Birnbach pulled ahead after the Precinct Six list was posted Monday night in the Town Hall, he never lost the lead that won him first place and a seat on the school board.

Incumbent Susan T. Poore was a close second in the race, finishing only 13 votes behind Birnbach. (See chart, elsewhere this issue.) She returns to her second term on the committee, her fourth in town politics. Poore, 43, was philosophical about her second-place finish, saying on Monday night that she believed her nine years in the public spotlight would count for something when it came time for residents to cast their votes in the race that saw her competing against three newcomers to Andover politics. Before her three-year stint on the school board, Poore was a two-term selectman.

June Blake was third in the race, with 23 votes separating her from Poore. She has questioned the ballot used, which she charged was misaligned (see story elsewhere this issue) but has decided against filing a formal protest. Sean Gresh was last in the four-person race, garnering 63 votes less than Blake.

The 24-year-old Birnbach, who originally speculated that his youth would be a handicap, said he turned that around, using it to his advantage.

"It helped me," said an elated Birnbach at Town Hall on Monday evening. "I convinced people that it helped me more than it hurt me. People said 'let's give the kid a shot.' "

Birnbach recruited a handful of high schoolers he knew from his tennis teaching days at the Indian Ridge Country Club to help him campaign. And his meetings with former teachers throughout the school system helped win him support, he said. He tops the list of spenders in the campaign, which cost him just over $1,500. The other three candidates estimated the race would cost them each $500 or less.

As he stood around Town Hall on Monday evening Birnbach's hard day of campaigning in the day's cold wind showed on his chapped face. His smile never faded as he shook hands with some of Andover's more experienced politicians at Town Hall who were on hand to watch the posting of the votes.

The most important issue of the campaign, according to Poore, was a recurring message from Andover residents that the School Committee isn't responsive enough to the townspeople. She called it a "gap" within the community, and pledged to address the issue as she returns to the board.

School Committee Chairman Donald W. Robb denied that charge, saying that similar charges are made in each election.

"It is an easy thing to say," Robb told THE TOWNSMAN "I've heard it before. In instances where we haven't been responsive I want to hear about it."

Robb said it was important that decisions within the schools follow the established chain of command, not starting at the School Committee, but ending there if a problem cannot otherwise be resovled.

All of the School Committee candidates remarked on the "friendliness" of the campaign, which saw an unusual number of candidates' nights, some which Gresh set up at the town's schools and others before established groups who invited the four candidates to address current issues.

Poore characterized the weeks and months leading up to Monday's election as unusual for an Andover campaign. Blake called the contest a "good, friendly and clean campaign."

And if cooperation outside of the high school on election day was any indication of how close this group of opponents became, Blake was correct in her assessment of the campaign. With Gresh and Birnbach shivering as the cold winds buffeted them about, Blake's campaign staff gave hats to the two men.

And at parties following the posting of results on Monday evening the candidates invited each other to their homes or meeting places to celebrate.

The two losers in the contest have different ideas about another run for the committee next year when Donald W. Robb and Richard E. Neal's positions are up for grabs. Gresh said he would be open to another challenge, adding that he would campaign harder for a School

Dalton Sets His Goals

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The next chairman of the Board of Selectmen has his goals for the coming year clearly in view.

William Dalton, re-elected Monday to a second three-year term on the board, said Tuesday that he expected to be named chairman tonight, during a selectmen's meeting scheduled for 7 p.m. at town offices on Bartlet Street

The chairman, he explained, holds "a key position on a board of equals. Someone has got to take the ball, and the chairman is the one who gets to set the agenda, who is communicated with by the town manager."

Dalton said he looked forward to becoming that key figure during his second term, and had little doubt his colleagues would elect him to succeed current Chairman Donn Byrne tonight. ("It's my turn," he explained.)

His priorities for the next fiscal year (which begins July 1) start with the recycling of old Town Hall, which has been left all but vacant on Main Street for more than a year.

"We're going to have a plan in mind, and perhaps have it implemented, by the end of the fiscal year," he said.

That plan will probably include the renovation of the second floor into a "medium-sized" meeting hall, Dalton said, while the ground floor may be renovated to accommodate Andover Historical Society exhibits, as well as a variety of "arts and crafts" organizations.

Meanwhile, the selectman's "personal agenda" includes a search for solutions to the long-standing Ballardvale traffic problem, created largely by Lowell Junction industry. "That problem has

Committee seat. But Blake was cautious about another run, saying she was very tired from this campaign. She'll still be a familiar face at committee meetings, said Blake, but she's not sure about campaigning next year.

Only 1,878 Andover voters came out for Monday's election. They represent 11 percent of the town's 17,000 registered voters. If the voters who cast their ballots in the School Committee race had all voted for two School Committee candidates, 3,756 votes would have been cast. But only 3,260 were cast in this part of the election. There were 470 ballots with either one candidate marked or no School Committee candidates marked.

Some 18 ballots were disqualified because voters marked more than two candidates.

haunted the board of selectmen during my three years," he said.

With Senator Patricia McGovern now chairman of the state ways and means committee, and with Congressman Chester Atkins a member of the federal transportation committee, "We now have key people in key places," he noted. "It's time we came up with some ideas."

Dalton's re-election campaign also impressed him with two major issues of concern to townspeople: a "question of communication" between town officials and citizens, and the need for a master plan.

On the first, "There seems to be a feeling that maybe town government is not communicating with its public quite the way it should be," he said. Dalton said he blamed the press as well as town officials for that problem.

And on the second issue, the selectman promised that "we will take steps" toward producing a master plan before next spring. "That is a question that comes up time and time again — where is the master plan? what stage is it at? why do we continue to permit development without a master plan?"

Running without opposition left Dalton free to spend no money and a minimal amount of time seeking re-election. He campaigned by attending three or four candidates' forums sponsored by various organizations.

It also made for a rather undramatic election day. After spending the day at work, Dalton stopped at town offices Monday night to check the election results, called on newly-elected selectman John Scileppi — and then went home to bed.

Still, he was "a little disappointed" that no one fought for his seat, he added. "That's not the way things are supposed to happen. All seats ought to be contested."

An Andover native, Dalton, 41, is a local attorney and a former town moderator. He lives on Old South Lane with his wife, Carolyn, and their children: Billy Jr., 17; Jack, 15; and Abigail, 11.

Honored To Serve The Town

John Scileppi quietly took his place on the Andover Board of Selectmen Tuesday morning, when he was sworn into office after the sort of low-key campaign required of an uncontested candidate.

After the swearing-in, the new official said later in the day, "I felt real honored and happy that I am representing the people of Andover. I really have a nice feeling about that."

The Andover businessman, who heads a fast-growing marketing, management and financial consulting company called The Firm, will fill a three-year term on the board. Only Scileppi ran for the position left vacant by Norma Gammon, who served on the board for six years.

Although it made for an easier campaign ("I was glad I was able to win"), Scileppi said he was "not thrilled" that no one ran against him.

"It was surprising to me that no one else ran for a position which I consider to be a very important one," he said. "It's unfortunate. I've always enjoyed a good contest, and it would have been fun and interesting."

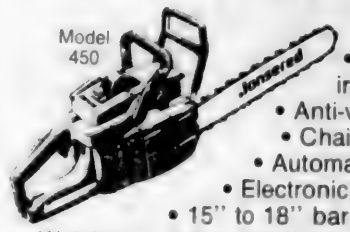

His campaign consisted of participating in several candidates' forums, including one televised several times by the League of Women Voters. "That was important,' he said. "It gave people who might not ordinarily attend these events an opportunity to look at the candidates and hear what they had to say."

With no competition to worry about, the candidate spent election day at work, after voting at 8:10 a.m. with his wife, Olivia. He celebrated with a family gathering at home Monday night, "nothing official or formal." Members of the board stopped in, including Gammon and newly-re-elected William Dalton and his family.

Keeping the town's growth under control is the first issue on Scileppi's mind. "Andover is still growing," he said, citing its desirability as a home to employees who work in nearby towns, as well as Andover itself. "And its growth affects everyone."

Developing a master plan to govern that growth will be one of his highest priorities. "As well as we can, we've got to define a plan for the future development of Andover. I'd like to get started addressing the issues of growth and development — the sooner the better."

An apparent lack of communication between the selectmen and townspeople concerns Scileppi as well. He pointed to the West Andover Neighborhood Association's current town meeting proposal to remove 96 acres of Cross Street land from the selectmen's control.

"That says that they don't trust their board of selectmen to make the right decisions there, and that shouldn't be. Communication is everything."

Scileppi, 44, moved to Andover from New York, N.Y., in 1970. He lives on School Street with his wife and their four children: Jennifer, 19; Laura, 16; Alison, 14; and Jake, 7.

During the past year he has served on the town's Industrial Development Commission and Industrial Development Finance Authority, and has chaired the Lovely Field Lighting Committee as well.

He was inspired to run for office by a feeling of belonging to the town, of wanting to serve his community, he said. He has warm memories, too, of his father campaigning for a seat as a New York state judge, an electoral position the elder Scileppi held for 37 years: "I remember that sense of giving that he gave as a public servant."

After sitting in on selectmen's meetings for the past several weeks, Scileppi is confident that he'll enjoy his new post. "I'm looking forward to it," he said. "I really will like it, and I will do my best to do the best job I can."

Curbside Recycling Resumes

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Dedicated recyclers will have a shorter trip starting next week — to the end of their driveways, instead of to the downtown drop-off center that's been in use for nearly a year.

Beginning Monday, April 1, Andover Recycling, Inc. will resume curbside pick-up of newspapers only (not glass). Graham-Bernier of Malden has been contracted to begin the pick-up service.

With construction about to begin at the parking lot in front of Park Street Village (please see story elsewhere in this edition), Andover Recycling will remove the walk-in collection bin that's been located there since last May, when the group began its search for a new contractor

The bin will be removed next Friday, April 5.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony yesterday praised the all-volunteer recycling group — particularly members Cynthia Hollenbeck and Tina Girdwood — for maintaining local interest in recycling paper and glass during the past 11 months.

"They have held this thing together and kept this project going for us," he said.

Recycling will take on new importance this year, the manager noted, as Andover joins the New England Solid Waste consortium, trucking its refuse to NESWC's new North Andover plant.

The town will be charged by the ton to dispose of its refuse at the plant, he explained, so recycling reduces the tonnage and thus reduces the town's costs. Moreover, the town makes money on the materials it recycles.

Mahony said he was "amazed" by how faithful Andover's recyclers have been during the past several months.

According to Hollenbeck, up to 70 percent of those who used to recycle glass and newspapers at curbside continued to recycle at the drop-off center. As many as 50 to 60 percent used the bin even during the worst winter weather, she said.

The recycling group has determined that glass pick-up is "not economically feasible," and has no plans for recycling glass at this time.

However, some sort of glass recycling may be resumed in the future, Hollenbeck said, possibly in the form of monthly glass drives.

The contractor will follow the same schedule as the current trash collection, collecting newspapers every other week.

The first week will begin next Monday, April 1, but the next recycling week will begin Tuesday, April 16, due to the April 15 Patriots' Day holiday. The next recycling week will begin Monday, April 29.

Andover Recycling advises townspeople to place their newspapers and magazines outside by 7 a.m. on trash day. The papers should be double-bagged or securely tied; corrugated cardboard should be flattened and tied. Some papers should not be recycled, Hollenbeck notes, including shoe, cereal, detergent, diaper and pizza boxes.

The recycling group expects townspeople to see some delays during the first few weeks of the new collection service. They are optimistic, however, that the convenience of curbside pick-ups will inspire more citizens to participate in the recycling effort.

Graduation Date Set

Parents, students and teachers will help plan Andover High School's graduation on Monday, June 3.

The graduation date was approved on Tuesday by the School Committee, which also set Friday, May 17, as the end of school for graduating high school seniors who meet the school's early release requirements.

A committee established to work on graduation met for the first time yesterday. Members of the committee are: parents Thomas Marcella, Nina Lasch and Julie Weil; students Betsy Murphy, who is the Student Council president; Jeffrey Kennedy, class president; Clayton Gonzales, vice-president; and Matt Aumais, secretary-treasurer of the class. Also, Robert Smith, a parent and former School Committee member; teachers Al Perley, Joanne Samra and Robert King, who is also the senior class advisor; Mike Marcoux, high school counselor; Stephen Richardson, acting principal; Will Hixon, assistant principal; Leslie G. Loomis, assistant superintendent; and Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent.

pledged to keep their peers from smoking marijuana there.

"Kids are going to smoke whether you say they can or not," said the younger Robb. "It is only fair that both sides be heard."

Teacher's union president Steve Jankauskas told the committee that the students at the meeting were being blamed for other problems in the schools by the administrators. Saying he felt badly for the students, Jankauskas said there were flaws in the way the decision was made to close the smoking area.

Contruction Of New Parking Lot Set To Begin Monday

By Sue Aucella Deacon

After a year-long delay, the $1.2 million reconstruction of two downtown parking lots will begin next Monday, April 1, Town Manager Kenneth Mahony announced yesterday.

The lot located behind old Town Hall will be redesigned to include 92 parking spaces, while the lot in front of Park Street Village (formerly the Heartland Jr. grocery store) will include 153 spaces, for a total of 245 parking spaces in the Park Street/Barnard Street/Bartlet Street area.

The contract for the work has been awarded to Tro-Con Corp. of Woburn. With a bid of $458,000, the Woburn firm was low bidder among six contractors who bid on the project. Bids were opened March 12.

Tro-Con is expected to begin working on the larger lot next Monday, Mahony told the TOWNSMAN, and to finish the project before the end of June (in 70 calendar days).

A $600,000 state grant awarded to the town in 1983 under the state Office of Administration and Finance off-street parking program will cover half the total cost of the project, according to town planner Nancy Jeton.

Some of those funds have already been spent on designs and plans for the two parking lots, Jeton noted.

Plans drawn by Merrimack Engineering Services of Andover call for regrading and repaving the two lots with blacktop, as well as adding painted lines, curbs, lights, trees and shrubbery — and parking meters.

Town officials hope the meters will keep all-day parkers out of the lots, while serving the customers of downtown stores and businesses.

The smaller Town Hall lot will include two-hour meters, Mahony said, while 25 percent of the larger Park Street lot will consist of four-hour meters. (The four-hour meters will line the Rogers Brook side of the lot, he said.)

The two lots will not be linked by a brick-walked pedestrian mall as originally planned, the manager said: They will be separated by Bartlet Street, which will remain open to two-way traffic.

Park Street will continue to be one-way off Main Street and Barnard Street will continue to be one-way towards Main Street, as they are now.

No parking will be allowed on Park Street around the lots, Municipal Maintenance Director Gerry Dion explained yesterday, with the exception of several diagonal spaces planned for the north side of old Town Hall. He added that 13 spaces will line Barnard Street, but the remainder of the total 92 spaces will be inside the lot.

The contractor will meet with town officials for a pre-construction conference on Friday, when they plan to outline their construction schedule for the project.

Tro-Con will start working on the larger Park Street lot next Monday, Mahony emphasized, so townspeople can expect to find that lot closed Monday morning.

The next step will probably be excavation to install underground conduits (for utility lines) in Park, Barnard and Bartlet streets, according to the contractor.

Mahony said that the contractor will try to keep one of the lots open "as much as possible" during the construction, and to keep the surrounding streets open to traffic as much as possible, too.

"It will be an inconvenience — there's no question," the manager said. "But the long-term effect will be very favorable for the town."

Annual town meeting appropriated $600,000 for the downtown parking lots in 1983 (Article 55), and the manager had hoped to see the lots open a year ago. The work was delayed, Mahony said, because Andover officials ran into problems "coordinating (the project) within our own shop."

The Public Works director had recommended that the town complete underground repairs of water and sewer lines in the area while construction was underway, so the project was held up while the DPW studied that possibility.

Mahony has decided that none of that underground work will be done at this time, and the parking project can now proceed.

Is it advisable to sell old appliances and purchase new units to do with a new kitchen? If the refrigerator is ten years old, a new one probably is needed. A prefabricating plant is planned for a 24-acre site off Brundrett ave. in West Andover. The acreage was sold by Wilfred J. Robidoux to the North Shore Fabricators — understood to be a subsidiary of the Messina Construction Co. of Brockton. It is Mr. Robidoux's understanding that the firm will prefabricate houses at the plant, for use during the outdoor construction season.

10 Years Ago — March 1975

Andover may face another revaluation and equalization program in 1976 with implementation of a 100 percent full, fair cash valuation of property to take place in 1978. This is the response given to the state Director of Corporations and Taxation this week by Andover assessors, in compliance with a court order which has ruled that all towns in the Commonwealth must assess at 100 percent.

Operating on a course which could result in the tax rate remaining the same, or increasing by only a dollar, a handful of Andover voters Monday night approved municipal budget items totalling close to $13 million before adjourning the annual town meeting to next Monday. Highlights of the first session included retention of the mosquito control program over Finance Committee objections.

Mrs. Mary Kay Hervol, a primary level teacher at Bancroft School, was given the go ahead Tuesday night, to teach abroad next year, in a teacher exchange program. Mrs. Hervol is the first teacher in Andover schools to be selected to participate in the Fulbright-Hays Foreign Exchange Program, which is administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

ees is a noble goal, but not a practical means to the end of improving the situation at the Andover Post Office. Slight changes in post office policy designed to help the customer will work more effectively. They would improve the post office's poor public image, whether in Andover or in any other town or city, and boost employees' productivity, thus fostering pride and excellence. Mr. Varitamos has already written a letter to the editor. It is now time for someone with a voice in post office policy to respond.

Order May Be Issued

Olympic Village developer Arthur Kalogianis is in the bad graces of the Andover Planning Board once again, and is in danger of receiving a stop-work order next Monday for possible violations of his subdivision approval.

The board has also set the wheels in motion for potentially rescinding their 1981 approval of the subdivision, which is located between Woburn and River streets.

Stephen Colyer of the Community Development and Planning staff Tuesday night reported to the planners that during a visit to the construction site Tuesday, he saw a "huge excavation" that was being used as a dump for the construction site and is now filling with water.

Although no lot lines were marked off on the site, Colyer said he believed that the excavation was located "probably eighty percent" in the subdivision's permanent open space, which will eventually be deeded to the town.

According to the terms of the planning board's subdivision approval, that open space was to remain in its natural state.

The board voted unanimously to authorize Colyer to stop work on the site next Monday morning if he finds that the excavation is located in the open space, or if the developer has failed to mark the lot lines.

If Kalogianis is found in violation of his subdivision approval, all work at the site will be stopped until the excavation is cleaned out and filled in, they explained.

The board has issued the Olympic Village developer at least one stop-work order in the past, after finding him in violation of their approval.

The Sport Shop Tunes Up for the Long Ride

Time again to take out the old 10-speed. Look 'er over good—is the bike telling you that the roads were dustier, the rain rustier and the gears more tired than you realized last fall when you put it away?

Before you hop into the saddle, take that bike down to the Sport Shop at 92A Main St. in Andover. They'll give it a spring cleaning and tune-up, on special now until April 14 at just $12.99. Once it's clean and tight, it'll carry you proudly on the long ride into summer.

You won't see many of the Sport Shop's Univega bikes on display when you walk into the store. But they do sell them; they're just downstairs because that's where the space is. Ask to see them; they've got the best in 10-speeds, BMX and the new all-terrain mountain bikes.

Upstairs, owner Fred Teichert and his sons Ted and Eric can set you up for Spring's other preoccupations. If your old tennis racquet is ruining your game, stop by the Sport Shop and use one of theirs for a day or two—they have Head, Prince, Yonex, Wilson, Donnay and Pro Kennex. One of them just might give you what you need to humble a McEnroe. The Sport Shop also strings racquets, of course.

Runners can "hit the wall" at the Sport Shop—the wall lined with Nike, New Balance and Converse running shoes and track spikes. Are you out in left field? The Sport Shop has baseball spikes and the latest in baseball and equipment—including outfits for teams of all ages. Soccer players aren't left out at the Sport Shop, either; they'll find a complete supply of shoes and equipment to keep them outstanding in their fields (groan). And there are team jackets, too, for every sport.

Take a picture of Johnny on the mound in the first inning. Rush the film down to the Sport Shop with their new Kis developing equipment, the guys will have your pictures ready in one hour before you've bagged the bats.

The Teicherts have owned the Sport Shop since 1977. Rounding out their team of workers, they have Scott Deery, Kevin Rourke and David Sullivan. The Sport Shop is open 9-5:30 Mon-Thurs and Sat. 9-8 Fri. Phone 475-7176.

Planners Reject Rezoning

By Sue Aucella Deacon

In unanimous agreement, the Planning Board Tuesday night voted to recommend that voters disapprove four downtown rezoning articles that will be presented to town meeting next week.

The planners indicated that they want to plan for the orderly expansion of the Central Business District (CBD) during the coming year — and could not support parcel-by-parcel rezoning that might see the business district "creeping further and further" into residential neighborhoods.

The board will recommend disapproval of the following articles, each privately proposed:

Article 72 — to rezone four residential parcels on Elm Street from Single Residence A to General Business; proposed by North Andover funeral director John Caron, who hopes to open a funeral homes on one of the parcels, 42-44 Elm

Article 73 — to rezone 6 Punchard Ave., a four-unit apartment house, from SRA to GB for use as offices; the property is owned by Clifford and Douglas Howe, Jr.

Article 74 — to rezone 72 Park St. from SRA to GB for an unspecified use; the land is owned by Daniel and Claire Morin

Article 75 — to rezone 12 Bartlet St., owned by Marion Colgate, from SRA to GB; the real estate firm of J.B. Doherty Associates would buy the site and remodel it as offices.

Board members appeared most sympathetic to the Colgate proposal, because that site is located across from the current Doherty offices and King's Subs, and next to the town parking lot at Park Street Village.

But to move the business zone across the street would simply force it upon Chestnut Street neighbors, Chairman Margaret Bradshaw explained, and the business district would "keep creeping further and further out" into residential neighborhoods until 'the whole area around the park (would be) lost."

The planners also cited their desire to maintain moderate-income housing in town, and the need to determine how many downtown offices remain vacant, as among their reasons for opposing the four articles. Bradshaw said she was not convinced that Andover needs more offices.

"Nobody's demonstrated to me what benefits there are to the town" in any of the proposals, the chairman commented.

The board emphasized that they will develop a plan for the future of the downtown business district before 1986 annual town meeting. Planner Paul Curley recommended that the four private proposals be deferred until next year.

Such a plan, according to board member Michael Houghton, would consider traffic, parking, and the possible creation of a "transition area" — that is, a buffer zone in which business uses would be limited to protect neighboring homes.

Cruise into the Sunset with Sutton Travel

So you think you know all about cruises. After all, you do watch The Love Boat, right?

So—how about a cruise to Alaska? Or a paddlewheel cruise up the Mississippi River. Or a Mediterranean cruise, coordinated with sight-seeing in Greece.

Sutton Travel of Lawrence and N. Andover can book you on a love boat—or a steam boat. Or they can mix and splice cruises and tours into an adventure that you might not have even considered possible.

For the incurable landlubber, Europe might be the ticket. "Europe is a real bargain this year, with the devalued dollar," advises Sutton owner Betty Couillard, who manages the Lawrence office. Is Europe too civilized for your tastes? Take an African safari, or a trek through the mountains of Nepal. Sutton Travel can uncomplicate any vacation.

And the service is FREE. Travel services like Sutton are paid by the airlines and the hotels—not by the customer.

Just as you wouldn't cruise in a leaky boat, you wouldn't want to turn your dream vacation plans over to fly-by-nights or amateurs. Sutton Travel has been around for more than 70 years. "It was started by my grandfather, William Sutton," says Betty Couillard. "I've been in it since 1956, myself." Both she and Shirley MacGill, who manages the North Andover branch, are Certified Travel Counselors—a distinction, earned by substantial graduate-level study and qualifying exams, which is, in Couillard's words, "equivalent to a Masters in Travel." There are only 92 CTCs in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and Sutton is the only Merrimac Valley agency to have two.

Drop in at 21 Lawrence Street in Lawrence or 141 Main St. in N. Andover to "get it together" for a getaway. In Lawrence, Sutton's Betty Couillard, Ruth Faro, Jackie Ulbin, David Gagnon or Lee Ann Wyrwa are waiting to collaborate in your escape, while in N.Andover, Shirley MacGill, Christine Lago or Ann Giles can ease you down the road to adventure. Call 686-9521 (Lawrence) or 687-3007 (N. Andover). Hours: Lawrence: Mon-Fri 8:30-5:30; Sat 9-12. N. Andover: Mon-Fri 9-5:30; Sat 10-1.

Madison Hill Draperies: Spring Refreshments

Now that the scene beyond your windows is perking up, Jane Carroll suggests that you frame it in something fittingly fresh. Elegant full-length draperies, perhaps, or bright cafe curtains. Or maybe traditional tab curtains, suspended from wooden rods.

Jane Carroll has 20 years' experience in her field—translating good ideas into well-made window treatments. As consultant for Madison Hill Draperies, Jane meets with the customer in his or her home to discuss the room's needs and the customer's ideas. She brings a wide variety of fabric samples for the customer to choose from so she can formulate an accurate estimate. "We offer competitive prices—very reasonable prices—for quality workmanship," she says. "We do not deal in mass-production. Each job is hand-cut and sewn. We pay extra close attention to matching designs."

Madison Hill's service is prompt—approximately four to five weeks from consultation to installation, which the staff provides. "We can also furnish rods and accessories if a customer desires," Jane adds.

Jane deals in all phases of window treatments, not only drapes. "We can furnish verticals, blinds, cornices and sheers—everything you can think of for a window," she says. She coordinates draperies with upholstery, too, either blending colors with existing furniture fabrics or matching materials directly with new upholstery work from Madison Hill Upholstery—a look, pictured above, that adds solid elegance to a more formal setting.

For spring window refreshment, call Jane Carroll, Madison Hill Draperies, between the hours of 8 and 6 Monday thru Saturday at 686-7264. Madison Hill draperies is a part of Madison Hill Upholstery, 300 Canal St., Lawrence.

Real Estate

By DOUGLAS N. HOWE

REALTOR

IS HOME STILL GOOD INVESTMENT?

Is the purchase of a home still a good investment when the inflation rate drops to say 4%? It certainly is!

If you buy a house for $80,000 with a $20,000 down payment and the house appreciates at 4%, it will increase in value in one year along by $3,200. This $3,200 represents a 16% return on your $20,000 investment. Sixteen percent is an excellent return. It's hard to find an investment that returns 16% when the inflation rate is only 4%. It doesn't stop there.

If you are financing the $60,000 at (for example) 13% you would be paying $7,800 in interest during the first year. Interest is an income tax deduction. For a person in the 30% tax bracket this interest deduction has a cash equivalency value of $2,340. Add this to the increase in home value during the first year and you have a total of $5,540. This figure translates to a whopping 27.7% return on the downpayment investment. Property taxes are also a deduction which further increases the return. No doubt about it. A home is an excellent investment.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover.

Personnel Post To Be Filled

A new administrator to oversee town and school employees is scheduled to start work in Andover on May 15.

The position, which carries a salary of between $25,000 and $30,000, is being advertised locally. Andover won state funding to cover part of the personnel manager's salary this February when some $34,000 was awarded from the state's Incentive Aid Program, a $1.5 million grant program which was designed to foster better management of town and school administrations. The town requested $44,800 but was not granted the full amount.

The state funds must be used over three years, in decreasing percentages. This year 75 percent of the award, or some $25,500 may be used to pay the personnel salary. The remaining funds, should the salary run over the lowest advertised salary of $25,000, will be paid evenly out of town and school budgets, explained Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of the town's schools.

Seifert and Town Manager Kenneth Mahony will supervise the personnel manager, who will have an office in the school administration building, on Whittier Street., Siefert said.

Applications for the post are due by April 1, according to the job advertisement. They will be reviewed by department heads in the school and town administration who will choose 10 to 12 candidates to interview, Seifert said. He and Mahony will interview the top three candidates and appoint the personnel manager, which will be a full year post.

If one only wished to be happy, this could be easily accomplished; but we wish to be happier than other people, and this is always difficult, for we believe others to be happier than we are.
